Home assessments irk residents

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Whether you just stop in a local diner for a cup of coffee, or turn up for a township meeting, it is apparent the higher property assessments are on the minds of Antioch residents. Township officials are reporting a number of phone calls about the assessments which were sent out last week.

"We have gotten some calls," quipped Township Assessor Cliff Houghton. "And, I am sure we'll get some more."

Even Highway Road Commissioner Mark Ring, who has nothing to do with property assessments, has reported receiving some calls from disconcerted residents. Ring says he has received calls for several days.

While some are just grumbling, others are preparing to mount an attack. Some subdivisions are contacting subdivision residents to file group appeals with the county.

"Something has to be done," said Carol Jonites, president of United Homeowners of Unincorporated Antioch. "Everybody is up in arms."

After talking to the county assessor's office, Jonites learned the group appeal may be more effective in getting the assessments reduced. "Petitions for individual subdivisions will be circulated," she said. "Taxes will not be mentioned on the petitions since our taxes have not yet been levied."

Waterway approves no-wake

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

The agreement by the Fox Waterway Agency to have Attorney John Roth prepare an ordinance implementing a 150-foot no-wake zone on the Chain O' Lakes, has been given final approval.

The no-wake installation will take effect April 1, 1995, and will not effect the Fox River.

According to officials, the decisive meeting held at the McHenry town hall last week, proved to be an "interesting" one.

Carl Warner of McHenry County made a surprise move when he changed his vote against the no-wake zone. At the previous meeting Warner was in favor of it.

Bob Lindquist, agency director, cast the deciding vote. "It was the right decision to Village to inspect sewers

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

A list is being compiled of problem areas in the Antioch Village sanitary sewers to be inspected by a televised camera. Rose Robinson, of Antioch, was on hand at Monday night's board meeting to complain about her sewer problems.

She told the board she had raw sewage backing up into her home on two separate occasions. "It is not very funny when raw sewage backs up in your home," Robinson said. "It is not a pleasant situation."

Robinson seemed very upset about the situation. "What are you going to do about it?" Robinson asked.

According to Village Administrator Tim Wells, Robinson's sewer connection will be rodded and inspected on a regular basis until the public works department compiles a list of at least 1,000 feet of problem areas to be inspected via television camera.

"We will wait until 1,000 feet need to be inspected before televising," said Wells. "It is more cost effective." Wells predicted it would be roughly 60-90 days before televising the sanitary sewers.

While Wells felt that only two incidents in 20 years is not "unusual," he did admit two backups occurring within a six-month span was a matter of concern. Mayor Marilyn Shineflug suggested the latest problem was a result of a large mass of roots which had broken free.

"We have no way of knowing," Shineflug admitted.

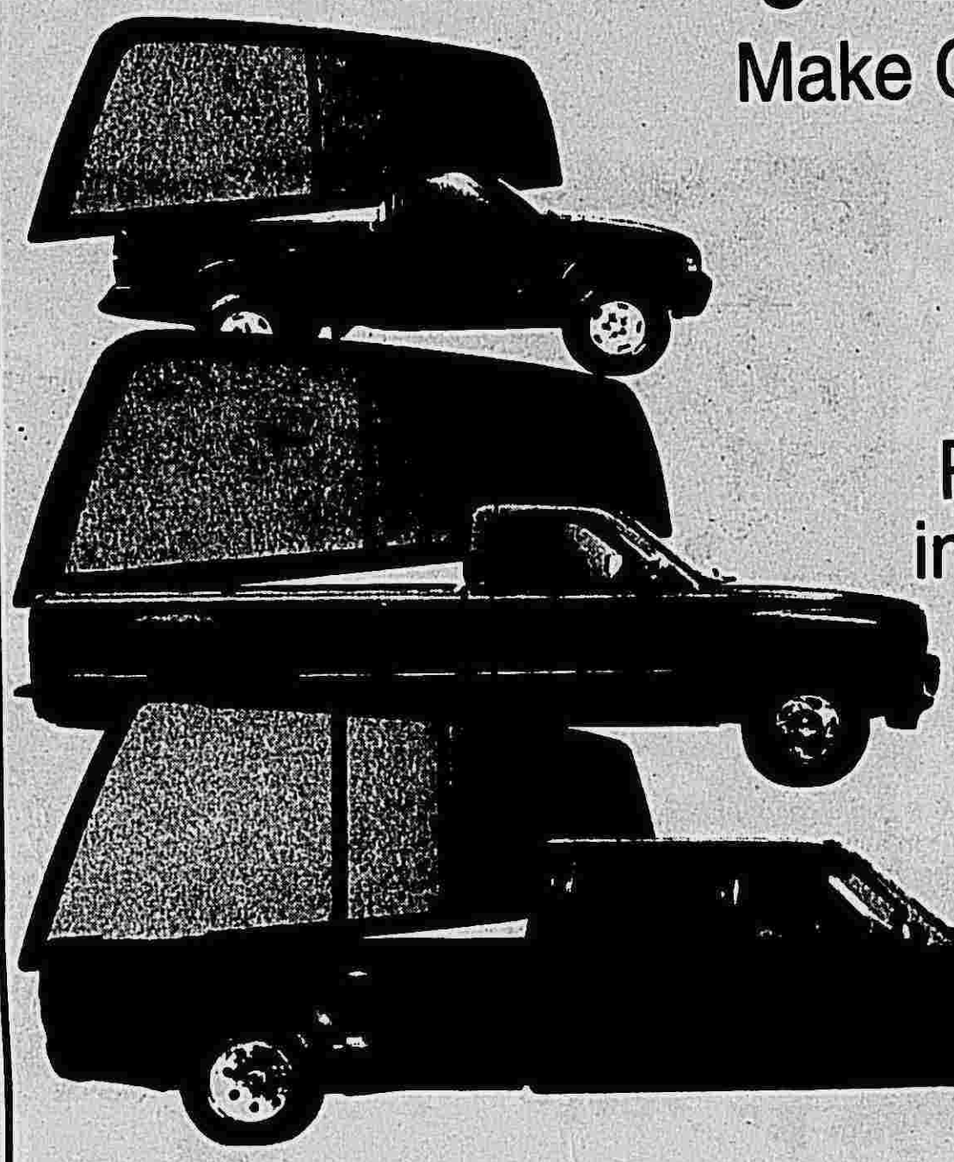

Robinson asked the board if it was possible to be connected elsewhere, however, village officials were unable to determine if that was possible at this time. "Without knowing the situation, I can't answer you," said Wells.

"It was rodded Friday, and will be inspected and rodded the following Friday if necessary, until we can televise it," Wells assured Robinson.

Start your engines, get ready for Autober Feast

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

If you are hoping to purchase a new car this year and like a good October Fest, you are going to love Antioch's newest idea, the Autober Feast. Sponsored by the Village of Antioch, Community Action Now, the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, and the Antioch Alliance of Auto Dealers (AAAD), this combination 1995 auto show and October Fest is scheduled for Oct. 7 and 8.

The Antioch Village Board approved both the dates and a contribution of $5,000 for this extravaganza at the last board meeting. "I think it is a wonderful idea," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug.

"All the car dealers are thrilled with the idea," said Village Administrator Tim Wells. The sale will feature vehicles made by Lincoln, Chevy, GMC, Oldsmobile, Chrysler, Dodge, Buick, Jeep, Mercury, Plymouth, Pontiac, Ford, Eagle, and Suburban.

Organized by Downtown Director Claude LeMere, he told the board the sale will enable local dealerships to compete and draw clients away from other areas including the Automall in Kenosha. Over 200 cars are expected to be on display, all of them new.

"I have some problems with used cars," Trustee Wayne Forresta said. "But, I don't have a problem with new or demonstrator cars." LeMere assured the board the sale would include new cars only.

The two-day event will take place in the village on Toft Avenue as well as in the municipal lots behind the Moose Club and the watertower. Besides the cars, area banks will be setting up computers and fax machines to facilitate easy financing for buyers.

Along with the cars, there will be food and nonalcoholic beverages. Prizes will be given to lucky raffle winners, and musical entertainment will be ongoing.

The Feast begins on October 7 from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and continues on Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. So, make sure you stop out and see the new cars and enjoy the traditional October Fest activities.

Village changes zoning car dealership

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Village Board is in the process of changing both an annexation ordinance as well as the listed land uses for their M-1 category. New and used car sales will now be included for the M-1 (limited manufacturing) classification.

The Antioch Village Board, acting upon the recommendations of the Zoning Board, had the first reading of the changed ordinances at the board meeting Monday night. This action followed the public hearing to change the annexation ordinance which had classified 10 of the 60 acres purchased by Terry Upton for a new car dealership, from B-3 Planned Unit Development, to M-1. There were no objections to the proposed change at the public hearing.

The addition of new and used car sales to the M-1 classification is a rather after-the-fact action since all but one of Antioch's car dealerships are operating in M-1 zoned areas. "We're trying to correct an inadvertent error," said Trustee Marvin Oldenburger.

The amendment in the annexation ordinance will contain a reverter clause. The village will have the option to change the zoning of the 10 acres back to B-3 PUD if no building permits are issued within 270 days.

All actions are based on the recent purchase and plans to move a Lake Villa car dealership to a new location north of Route 173, southeast of McMillian Road in Antioch.

Village approves hiring of cable television consultant

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The Antioch Village Board approved an intergovernmental agreement for an expenditure of roughly $500 to hire a consultant to review cable television rate information. Early this year, the village took advantage of the opportunity to join in a consortium along with nine other villages to regulate basic cable television services and installation rates.

"We just received Form 1200 with the new rates," Village Administrator Tim Wells told the board. "It is a one-time review."

Several trustees voiced some concerns regarding the recent rate decrease and participation in the consortium.

"There was a rate change," said Trustee Wayne Forresta. "Weren't they supposed to notify us before that happened?"

Of course, Forresta was not concerned about a rate decrease. He was, however, worried that a rate increase could also take place without notification. "Shouldn't we have had first approval?" Forresta asked.

While it was not known why the board had no notification of the rate change, Mayor Marilyn Shineflug suggested that the change may have been outside of the village's authority. "It could have been a change outside the regulatory process," she suggested.

"As long as the procedure is in place if the rates go up," Shineflug added.

Trustee Dorothy Larson voiced some concerns about the village's participation in the consortium. Specifically, she was worried that the village would be limited to decisions of the group. "If they make a decision we don't like, can we leave?", Larson asked.

"We have not lost any independence," Shineflug told the board.

Wells agreed and explained that the village could leave the group at any time.

Skokie Valley Asphalt gets Antioch bid

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Skokie Valley Asphalt was the low bidder of the Crandall Subdivision road work, and the Antioch Township Board approved the contract at the last board meeting. The project, which is funded from a community block grant, will include the black-topping of the roads in that subdivision.

Skokie Valley's bid came in at $13,890. The next lowest bid was from Peter Baker at $17,400. "They are both good," commented Town Clerk Richard Harlan.

Supervisor Jim Fields explained why the Skokie Valley bid was so much lower. He said that Skokie Valley would already be in Antioch doing work for the township road department and the lower cost results from having the equipment in place.

Mark Ring, township road supervisor, said that despite the blacktopping, the roads would remain private. "They cannot be part of the township road system," said Ring. He said this was because the roads were too narrow to meet the applicable standards.

Ring credited Fields with the acquisition of the grant money to have the roads paved. "This is Jim Fields program," said Ring. "He deals with the director and the grant."

Township helps Ride-A-Thon

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Township has approved a contribution to the Second Annual Bill Brooks Ride-A-Thon. The money generated from this event goes to the Lake County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

The Township Board approved a $100 donation to this worthy cause after both board members as well as the audience attested to much needed services the Cancer Society supplies to the township. Terry Colby, a resident of the township, told the board how the society helped her family and "there was never any question of money."

While Supervisor Jim Fields had not heard of the Ride-A-Thon, he felt more comfortable about the donation after hearing about the services provided. "As long as it goes back to Antioch," Fields said.

Trustee Claudette Skvarce made the motion for the donation and Trustee Rich Kufalk seconded. The motion was unanimously approved.

Children go to school while migrants work

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

While few people are aware migrant workers come to Lake County, fewer may know about a special Round Lake Summer Migrant Program designed to help educate the migrant's children while their parents work.

The program runs from mid-June to the end of July. This year 260 students from all over Central America and Mexico spend six weeks at Village Elementary School in Round Lake.

The program is funded by a federal grant. The co- coordinators, Maria Teresa Coleman and Dan Starzynsky revamped the program.

Each classroom had one mono-lingual teacher or assistant and one bi-lingual teacher or assistant. Coleman said it worked well for the teachers, student and the coordinators as well.

"It's not a summer camp," Coleman said. "These students have a lot to overcome. They move around, take extended vacations and we help refresh them on what they learned and prepare them for the start of the school year."

"We assess their needs and try and work with them to reinforce what they learn," Starzynsky said.

The focus is mainly on language skills such as reading, writing and spelling. Also students did have some science, social studies and arts as well.

Students went on some field trips. The third to fifth-graders went to Milwaukee Museum as part of a rainforest exhibit. The fifth to eighth-graders went to Volo Bog as part of a science unit.

"They really enjoy it," said Linda Flores, recruiter. "The children look forward to it every year."

Flores, who works for the Lake County Head Start, receives a list of workers and it's her job to make the contacts to get the children in the program.

"I make phone calls and I also go out into the fields," Flores said.

Flores said many of the migrants travel to various areas throughout the year. They come from countries such as Mexico and El Salvador.

The program is designed to help migrant children overcome educational disruption, cultural and language barriers, social isolation, health-related problems and other factors that inhibit their ability to do well in school. Also the program prepares kids for successful transition to post secondary education or employment.

Students are in school from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. during the weekdays where they learn new skills and refresh the ones they already know.

To celebrate the end to the program for this year, a Festival Day was held on July 28. Each class from the 3-year-old room to eighth-grade performed a special skit. Guadulupe Vargas from Guidez Musical provided the music.

Each class also designed and made their own pinata

The 3-year-olds did a dance medley called "Across the Bridge," the 4-year-olds performed "The Lion Sleeps Tonight" and the Kindergarten class line dance to "Achy Breaky Heart."

The program is about 10 years old.

Among the other performances was third-grade singing "It's My Party" and the seventh- and eighth-graders combining for a skit based on mix of well-known villains.

The event concluded with a traditional Spanish feast. The food included burritos, tamales, enchiladas, Floutas(fried chicken in tortilla) and pollo con molle (chicken and sauce).

The migrants usually work labor intensive jobs such as landscaping in areas such as Lake Zurich, Wauconda, Ingleside, the Round Lake area and Fox Lake.

Fighting Back seeks nominees

The Fighting Back Project is seeking nominations to honor those persons, groups and organizations (youth and adult) that have made a significant impact in the prevention of alcohol, tobacco and other drug abuse in Lake County during the past year (Oct. 1993 to Oct. 1994).

The mission of the Lake County Fighting Back Partnership is: "To promote an environment where healthy lifestyles, hope and opportunity replace the abuse of alcohol, tobacco and other drugs for all persons of the Lake County community."

For additional information or a copy of the nomination form, contact the Fighting Back office at 546-7144.

Car missing

Antioch Police investigated a suspicious circumstance Friday, Aug. 12, after receiving a report of a possible stolen car. The car, a red two-door Mustang, was parked in the west municipal lot by the owner. A friend called police when the car could not be found. Apparently, the owner is vacationing in Mexico. The owner's friend told police that numerous individuals have a key to the car, and it was unknown who was in possession of the car. Officers advised the man to notify the owner upon his return.

Art work on toilet

Police responded to a report from the beach guards at Oakwood Knolls beach that person(s) unknown painted a gang sign on the inside back wall of the portable toilet located on the property Aug. 12. The signs were photographed for evidence. The amount of damage done is not known.

DUI

Caroline J. Mitsch White, 35, of Antioch was arrested Aug. 12 at 1:17 a.m. for driving under the influence of alcohol. According to the police report she was observed at Deep Lake Road north of Route 173. White refused a breathalyzer, but reportedly fell against the door when police questioned her. She was released on bond.

Thomas H. Homan, age 26, of Zion, was arrested for driving under the influence and possession of cannabis on August 14. Homan's first breathalyzer test reached .21 percent. He was arrested and released on bond.

Noise nets arrest

Gregory A. Shatley, age 22, of Antioch, was arrested after police visited a party after receiving complaints of loud noise on Aug.12. After talking to Shatley and receiving promises that the volume would be kept down, police ran Shatley's identification through the computer and discovered an outstanding warrant for possession of cannabis. Shatley was released on bond.

Park vandalized

Centennial Park was vandalized Aug. 13 when persons unknown wrote lengthy messages on the entrance posts. Damage is estimated to be $100.

Fight results in arrest

Richard W. Turner Jr., age 19, of Antioch, was arrested on Aug.13, when police discovered an outstanding warrant after quelling a domestic argument. Turner had warrants for failure to appear and disorderly conduct. Turner was arrested and taken to Lake County Jail.

Loud music complaint

Police were dispatched to the Waterfalls Restaurant on August 14 after neighbors complained of the noise.

Invalid license

After observing Ted O. Boltom, age 37, of Antioch, driving on Nelson Road and knowing he had a revoked license, police stopped and arrested Boltom on August 14. Boltom was released on bond.

Vomiting tips police

After observing Ricky L. Johnson, age 17, of Antioch, vomiting and staggering off a balcony apartment on August 9, police stopped Johnson and Joshua J. Punko, age 18, of Antioch, as they were leaving the building. Both appeared to be intoxicated and admitted to police they were under the age of 21. They were subsequently arrested for underage drinking. Police then went to the apartment and were told by Scott A. Kipker, age 23, of Antioch, "Hey, everyone here is over 18." Officers observed a large number of beer cans and bottles and saw Timothy C. Presley, age 19, and Gregory Pfeiffer, age 20, in possession of beer. Both were arrested for underage drinking. Kipker was arrested for delivery of alcohol to minors. All were released on bond.

Worker's death accidental, could have been prevented

A Coroner's inquest jury questioned the safety procedures of an Antioch Company after an employee was electrocuted.

Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson said the jury found the death of Erik Peterson, 19, of Round Lake Beach to be accidental. Peterson died on June 29 while operating a cutting machine at Tuscarora Plastic Company in Antioch.

"The jury found the accident could have been prevented," Richardson said.

The jury felt the company could have heeded warning signs the machine wasn't functioning properly, according to Richardson.

Peterson was considered a good worker by the company. He had worked for the company for about one year.

Manager Brian LaCourse said Peterson was well-liked by other workers. He seemed to get along with everybody.

The company could have added more safeguards, according to report. The inquest concludes the investigation on the death of Peterson. Richardson said no criminal action would follow but a civil lawsuit is likely. — by ALEC JUNGE

Woman dies in motorcycle crash

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

An Ingleside woman died as a result of a motorcycle accident at the intersection of Hart Road and Rte. 134.

Jennifer Mecier, 34, a passenger on a motorcycle, was pronounced dead Sunday night at the Northern Illinois Medical Center and the driver, Roger Kenna, 32, of Round Lake Park sustained head and leg injuries. The motorcycle ran into the back of a vehicle driven by Antonio Carranza of Round Lake Beach.

"She flew 100 feet in the air into the westbound lane of 134," said Officer Gerard Hendrickson of Round Lake Police.

She was run over by a 1992 Amigo driven by James Wheeler, 43, of McHenry, according to Hendrickson.

"She was wearing dark clothing, had dark hair and wasn't wearing a helmet. The witnesses said they had no idea what it was," Hendrickson said.

Hendrickson said he will ask the States Attorney's office to press charges as a result of this accident. As of Lakeland Newspapers deadline there was no arrest. He did say there might be possible reckless homicide charges.

Hendrickson admitted he believes alcohol was "a major factor in the accident." He didn't elaborate on who might be charged.

This is the second major motorcycle accident in the area in the last two weeks. Last week Charles Tooksbury of Zion struck a van at the intersection of Rte. 83 and Rollins Road. He is still in serious condition at Froedert Hospital in Milwaukee with head and leg injuries.

Both Kenna and Mecier weren't wearing helmets. Kenna is in Northern Illinois Medical Center in the Intensive Care Unit for observation, according to Hendrickson.

The visibility was clear. There is a dispute as to whether the traffic signal at the intersection was working properly, according to Hendrickson.

Teen charged after touching 'Bugs Bunny'

A teenager will face misdemeanor battery charges for an incident at Six Flags Great America.

No one was injured when 19-year-old Kevin Williams of Chicago and two teenage friends asked an employee wearing a Bugs Bunny costume what sex it was.

Gurnee Police Chief Henry Schwarz described what could have led to the incident.

"When you get a group like that, there is always some subtle encouragement," Schwarz said. He added the incident was over quickly.

The employee was with an escort at the time of the Aug. 10 incident and walked away. Williams, according to one report, touched the employee wearing the costume. The employees were from Racine, Wis. and Vernon Hills.

The two juveniles were released to their parents, while Williams turned in a $75 bond. The three were detained by Six Flags Great America security following the incident, which took place just before 9 p.m.

Williams has a court hearing Sept. 16 in Zion branch court.

Could it be?

No matter what you read here, please remain secure in the fact that I really do have a few good years left. On most days I know my name, even my address and phone number, etc. So, when I tell you that the "Carp Whales" coming in to feed on my bread scraps are showing definite signs that they know me, trust that there is an outside chance this can be true. Odd, but true. Remember, I am not claiming to recognize them as individuals, but as sure as I am writing this crazy tidbit, I believe they know me and my feeding routine.

Why, you ask? Well, try this on for size. When I meander down to the waterfront and plop down on the pier with no one else around, I barely toss in three to four bread tidbits and they arrive in droves. They come in singly and other times swimming side by side, two and three at a time, breaking water as they suck up a bread scrap. It looks like a day at the races, with 10 to 20 fish frantically racing to get their fair share of the goodies.

If the neighbors come over to watch the feeding process, the carp quickly scatter and the few that remain stay far beneath the water's surface. Now, if this only happened once, I would think nothing of it. However, when it happens time and time again, I prefer to believe they "recognize me"! On the other hand, who am I to judge, a crazy lady who has mothered more animals than kids and relocated from the city, no less. Once again, "Dumb animals indeed"!

Another season

The PM&L Theatre of Antioch will soon be beginning its 34th season "Laughter and Tears—Hopes and Fears." They have six fine productions scheduled. "Annie" (September/October), "How the Other Half Loves" (November), "Rumors" (February), "Inherit the Wind" (March/April), "The Sound of Music" (June), "Lend Me a Tenor" (July/August).

You can purchase individual tickets or six-show and three-show passes. The six-show pass is $40 and the three-show pass is $21. Senior citizens and student passes are also available.

The PM&L continues with its improvement construction and some shows may be held elsewhere. If this occurs, ample notification of the site will be given. Please remember that seating at the theatre is limited and reservations can be made by calling 395-3055.

Help

Janet Harrison created a lovely rock, flower, fish pond in the backyard of her new Lake Villa home. Her pond residents consist of some goldfish, frogs and baby channel catfish.

While Janet, hubby Ed and Little Blake and Brittany are enjoying the pond immensely, Janet doesn't know a "hill of beans" about winterizing it so the frogs and fish may survive the winter.

She asked me to inquire from my "Hometown Goodies" readers if anyone has any knowledge on how to winterize a small pond. If you have expertise or experience in this area, please call and I'll pass on your suggestions to Janet.

Blue eyes

Janet Harrison insists that the channel catfish in her pond have blue eyes. Sounds good to me. Don't forget, I'm the one who believes to be recognized by a large group of "carp whales." I'm glad I'm not the only crazy lady in the Antioch area. Remember, misery loves company.

If you would like to serve your community by being a school board member, contact Grass Lake School and inquire about the board opening created by the recent resignation of board president Cynthia Marquart. Applications for this position are available at the school and must be returned no later than Aug. 26. Interested parties must live in the Grass Lake School District. For further information call the school at 395-1550.

Same/different

I had a recent conversation with a fine senior citizen. This person does not like to be in the limelight and indicated if I wanted to put her remarks to print, please omit her name. She indicated how much she enjoys reading "Hometown Goodies." She particularly enjoys my granddaughter stores, animal stories and "Out of the mouths of babes" children stories. In her opinion, even though she doesn't know all the people or happenings personally, she enjoys reading them because they are positive, wholesome, down-to-earth stories that could involve anyone.

It is always nice to receive a compliment. I told her I have found people to be different in many ways and yet the same. I said that is probably why she enjoys reading about people and situations that she doesn't know about personally. I thanked her for her kind words, encouraged her to keep reading, and to call me with a tidbit from time to time.

She said she would be turning 90 years old in 1995 and would contact me with a birthday tidbit. I'll be waiting, and something tells me this fine lady will be 90 years "young," not "old!"

Summer's final fling

It's rapidly approaching, summer's final fling. Before you realize what's happening you'll find yourself at the barbecue grilling hamburgers for your Labor Day picnic. But stop—summer isn't over yet—there are still warm days ahead and great bargains to find, especially in Antioch.

Antioch merchants have been busy this week marking down prices for their annual "Final Fling Sale" of summer. Participating merchants will be offering rock bottom pricing on summer clearance and intriguing sales on the latest in fashions for fall and winter. Get ready to hit the streets and pound the pavements during the Final Fling sale starting Thursday, Aug. 18, through Sunday, Aug. 21.

Being the wise consumer that you are, you're probably already thinking to yourself: "Sale ... Summer Clearance Sale ... why not plan ahead for next summer ..." The Final Fling is the perfect time to enhance your summer wardrobe, for this summer and next.

You'll find lovely and unique apparel for men, women and children during the Final Fling. Participating shops will be ready to help you create an appropriate wardrobe that is both fun and practical.

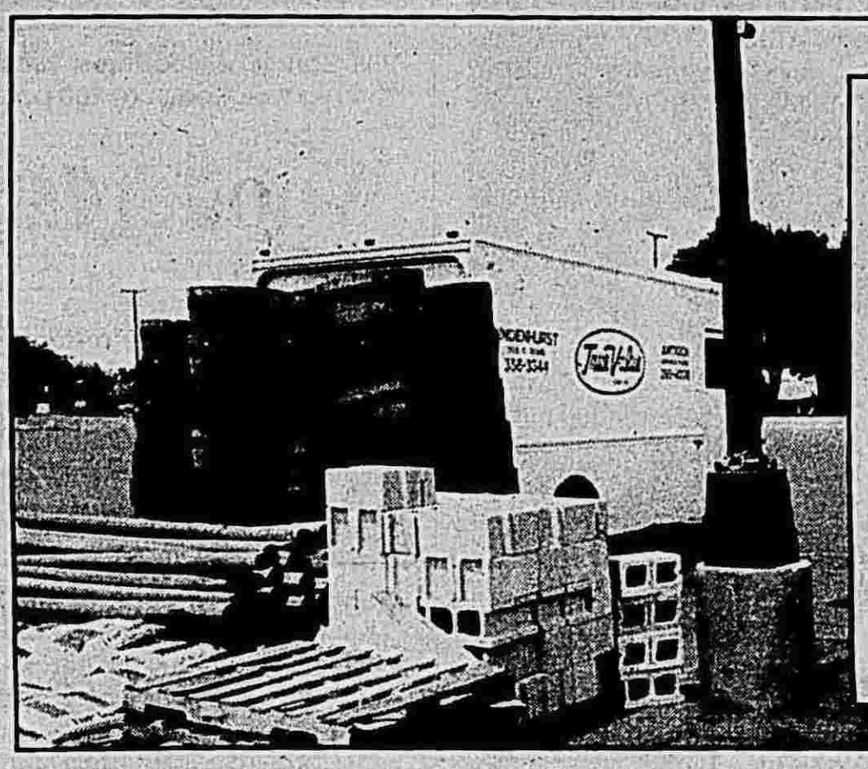

With the cool days we've recently experienced, it's time to start putting together a fall wardrobe, so take advantage of the Final Fling for super savings. Don't forget about back-to-school shopping, now's the time to shop while selections are still the best. If your child will be wearing a school uniform, remember to pick up a few outfits for picture day and other special occasions.

It's also time to start making plans for fall clean-up around the yard. Check out your inventory of tools to make sure you'll be ready when the time comes. There's nothing worse (or more predictable) than having to stop mid-way through a project and having to "run to the hardware store" to pick up a few things. Many of us have had to do that from time to time.

If the end of summer means looking forward to a long winter stuck inside a house you've been meaning to decorate, check out the Final Fling specials at participating furniture and decorating shops.

New boat safety class planned

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary announced the next boating safety courses, and a new class in Antioch is one of them.

On Monday nights starting on Sept. 19 at 7:30 p.m., the regular classes held at the Grant Township Hall in Ingleside, on 411 Washington St. will begin. The cost is $20 for books.

This year the Antioch seamanship course will be brought back. The class will start at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 21 at Pedersen's Marina at 840 W. Hwy. 173. Cost is $25.

Instructor Millard Rutkowski said several years ago there were safety courses held in Antioch.

Rutkowski is busily involved in the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary five nights a week.

This fall on Friday nights he will start teaching a course in navigation at the McHenry County College once again. On Mondays he will be teaching in the Fox Lake area, then on Tuesday's he teaches the boating safety course in Palatine. Wednesday's will be in Antioch and on Thursday's Rutkowski teaches the U.S. Coast Guard class in Arlington Heights.

Library to offer preschool program

The Antioch Public Library Dist. will have a preschool reading program and school aged activity hour starting Oct. 1 through December 17.

There are lots of activities planned for children 3 through 10. Movies will be shown once a month on Saturday at 2 p.m.

Registration will be taken Sept. 6 through 20. Participants must register in person.

A signer will be made available to children who need communication in sign language.

Three weeks advance notice is needed. For more information, call 395-0874.

Crane calls upon president to back GOP health care plan

Eighth Dist. Congress-man Philip M. Crane said now that the House has defeated the Clinton Crime Bill and shown it opposes wasteful spending of taxpayer dollars, the Clinton Administration should embrace Republican at-tempts to pass a health care package.

"The president has been shown that a majority of House members, including 58 Democrats, did not believe the way to fight crime was to spend billions of dollars on dance programs, arts and crafts, midnight basketball and programs to promote self-esteem," the congressman declared.

"A House-Senate conference committee loaded an extra $8 billion onto an already overloaded bill calling for the expenditure of $22 billion," he went on.

"The nation can have a health care bill this year if President Clinton will give up his call for socialized medicine," he added.

Crane has cosponsored a bill which does not raise taxes or force employer mandates upon small business as the president wants to do.

The Republican bill would permit workers to keep health insurance when going from one job to another. It would cover pre-existing medical conditions, and provide for medical IRAs. Small business would be permitted to join pools to lower premium rates.

Woodcrest picnic has huge turnout

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The newly re-formed Woodcrest Subdivision held its first subdivision-wide pig roast last weekend. At last count, 125 members of the association turned out for the event.

According to association officials, almost all of the 200-pound pig was eaten by dusk. The group was very pleased that despite the threatened showers, there was no rain for the event.

Commercial supporters of the roast included First Chicago Bank, Video Explosion, Antioch True Value, Wasz's Resort, Neurauter's Restaurant, TNT's Restaurant, Triangle Sports, Waste Management, Dinks Tavern, Baskin Robbins, White Hen Pantry, Raymond Chevy-Olds, Action Video, Autumns Hair, and Armanetti Liquors.

Members of the subdivision had an opportunity to spend time with their neighbors in a social setting instead of legal meetings. Many members of the subdivision were recently named in a countersuit about the ownership of subdivision property.

Woodcrest Subdivision, located in the far northwest end of Antioch Township, has been in and out of court to clear up a title issue regarding homeowner association property. Last month, the homeowner's association was told to refile the property lawsuit in the subdivision name instead of the association. After doing so, individual members were named in a counter-suit by John Krueger, another property owner in the subdivision.

Problems started for residents in 1980 when John Krueger, a Cook County resident, formed a land trust through a bank. According to the association's attorney, John Casey, Krueger included in the property description the association's beach, parks, and easements. While Krueger's actions did not make him the owner of the property, it did cause a cloud to be put on the title of the property.

Despite the subdivision's legal problems, residents were still able to enjoy a good old-fashioned pig roast.

At-Risk program available for Antioch's youngest residents

MARY. FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community Consolidated School District 34 will once again offer its Prekindergarten Program for Children at Risk of Academic Failure. The district's budget proposal has been accepted by the Illinois State Board of Education for fiscal year 1995.

The program is for children between the ages of 3 and 5 who are in need of enhanced learning to prepare them for a successful educational experience. In addition, the At Risk Program improves parenting skills as educational improvement for the children's parents.

"This is a great program," said Director Janet Behling. "They do a lot of interesting things including art and music as well as develop gross physical motor skills."

The grant from the state allows for the education of 50 children. Screening for children at risk is ongoing throughout the school year.

The program has two teachers, two teacher assistants, and a family resource counselor. The children either attend a half-day session four days a week, or become part of the home-start program. According to Behling, the home start program is for younger learners or those children whose parents are unable to get them to school. "I give the mom's some ideas," said Behling about the home start program. "It's a real nice program."

Parents and parenting skills are not ignored in the program. "We try to address the family's educational needs," said Behling. "We really work hard with the parents educational needs. We try to help them to set educational goals."

Fridays are often reserved for parent-child activities. "We have play group, field trips and workshops," explained Behling. Every year the youngsters, along with their fathers, carve pumpkins for Halloween. "I always learn a lot from the parents," Behling added.

"Screening is available to all the children in the district between the ages of 3 and 5," said Behling. Parents who believe their child may be at risk should call the Center of Early Education and Development at W.C. Petty School, 395-1440.

Agency looks for input on speed-boats

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

After its first move to implement a 150-foot, no-wake zone around the Chain O' Lakes, the Fox Waterway Agency may be on its way to reducing high-speed vessels on the water as well.

While some were pleased with the no-wake decision last week, others were not.

Those against the change cited difficulty getting it enforced, as well as just having too many rules to follow on the Chain which would take the fun out of boating.

Others said their safety improved with the no-wake zone.

Whatever the feeling, the Agency knows one thing. They will be tackling a fervently controversial issue which has been the grounds of concern for many residents and boaters.

Although the brand name "Cigarette" boats that operate up to about 70 m.p.h. are making waves with a lot of people, "There's a very small percentage (of them) realistically," said Agency Executive Director Karen Kabbes.

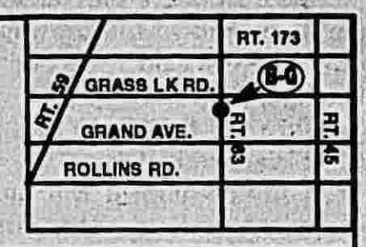

Kabbes estimates that only about 30 of these cigarette-style boats out of 23,000 boats the Agency issues user permits for each year, may actually be operating on the Chain.

At the last Agency meeting, the board announced a desire to have input from citizens, and to draw up petitions for and against a possible ban on cigarette-type boats on the waterway.

If there's enough interest, a public hearing could take place on the issue, said Kabbes.

Residents provide funding for Antioch Rescue Squad

The Annual Antioch Rescue Squad auction netted over $40,000 this year, providing a solid funding base for the volunteer organization. In addition, the squad received a generous donation of $10,000 from Claude Smith of NuWay Speakers.

"Obviously, the community generosity was evident," said Tim Osmond of the Rescue Squad. "This year's auction seemed to have more items as well as a lot of different bidders."

Everything from furniture to boats were sold at this year's auction which was held on August 7 at Williams Park. Evert Oftedahl donated his 1948 Chevy truck for the auction.

The members of the Rescue Squad want to thank the community for their continued support and would also like to remind residents of their ongoing CPR program.

Taxes

residents and trustees questioned Houghton about the problem. "How does this affect the tax cap?" Trustee Claudette Skvarce asked.

"The tax cap affects the amount the township can ask for," replied Houghton. Despite the higher assessments, Houghton reminded the group that the amount of taxes is dependent on the taxing districts.

"I could double the value of your home and your taxes would not go up," he said. "It is up to the taxing districts."

"What will this do to taxpayers?" Skvarce asked.

"In my opinion, it will force people out of here," Houghton replied. The problem, according to Houghton, is that people seem willing to pay increasing amounts of money to live in Antioch.

"It's incredible," Houghton said. "We have places that went up 50 percent. Especially the waterfront properties."

Houghton was asked what would happen if he ignored the higher sales and simply failed to raise the assessments. Houghton explained that the state would then come in and add a factoring amount that would penalize the entire township.

Those at the township meeting then launched into a discussion about taxing alternatives. "I have long personally been in favor of increasing the income tax and eliminating the school district portion of property taxes," said Houghton.

However, he went on to explain that one of the problems with that plan is that if the economy went into a recession, there may not be enough income tax to fund school districts. Houghton told the group that Wisconsin is considering a similar plan, however it has not yet been enacted. And, he felt it was too soon to evaluate the new school funding program enacted in Michigan.

Houghton reminded the group that citizens are requiring more and more services and that there needs to be a way to insure the necessary funding for those services. In the meantime, property owners must grin and bear it.

Engineer on leave, undergoing therapy

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

The engineer of the Metra express train which hit and killed a Long Lake woman Aug. 3, is currently undergoing counseling.

"It was a traumatic experience for him," explained Chris Knappton of Metra.

Lindenhurst resident Paul Rowland is on leave from his job, and Knappton said he doesn't know if the engineer plans to return to work anytime soon, or even at all.

The Metra representative explained often when a situation occurs such as the one where Stephanie Pease-Basile was killed, a train engineer may become so traumatized he never returns to his job.

Knappton explained how helpless an engineer feels when there's a person or vehicle on the tracks. The huge engine can't steer out of the way, and traveling as fast as they are, they can't stop very quickly.

"You can lock up on those brakes, but you'll slide a quarter mile like he did," Knappton said. During the impact that morning the car was dragged nearly all the way to Fairfield Rd.

According to the Lake County Sheriff's Highway Division, witnesses recounted they never saw Basile's brake lights go on.

Corporal John Jansky of the department reported the white Ford Probe the woman was driving, was traveling between 20 to 25 miles per hour and went straight over the tracks even though the engineer blew his horn and the red crossing lights were flashing.

Jansky said he doesn't buy the theory that Basile was blinded by the 7 a.m. sun and couldn't see the lights.

The corporal explained videos were taken of the site during the same time of day, and the red lights on the north end where the driver was coming from, were not glared by the sun.

Reports from several neighbors say they saw Basile on her way to work many times, playing a kind of "game" with the train. Family and friends of Basile have commented that she was a very cautious driver.

The Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) announced they would be erecting crossing gates at the Long Lake site sometime after the beginning of the 1995 fiscal year starting in October of this year.

make," said Lindquist. "This new no wake area will provide a place along our lakes for fishermen and swimmers, improve safety and help improve water quality," he added.

Another director, Judy Martini said, "I'm very pleased the board voted to take this important step."

Now canoers and non-motorized boaters will be using more of the lake, explained Director Wayne Blake.

In related action, the Agency also approved a compromise no wake area for the Fox River in Algonquin.

In accordance with the Village of Algonquin's previous proposal, the Agency board voted unanimously to move the no wake area from 1,500 feet upstream of the dam to 2,200 feet.

A 450-foot wide semicircular turnaround area for boats would be included in the center of the river between 2,000 feet and 2,200 upstream of the dam.

The ordinance states that the no wake area goes into effect, at the village's request, once a permit violation at Ericson Marina is resolved between the State of Illinois and Mr. Ericson.

Pine Hills owner gets another extension

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

The owner of the Pine Hills Lakes development, NBD Bank, has received another extension of two weeks to get drainage problems under control as well as contract for the construction of walking paths. However, it is expected that another extension will be needed for the cleaning of the ponds since an engineering study is needed to determine the cause of the silting.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug, Director of Planning, Zoning, and Building Robert Silhan, and other village staff members met with representatives of NBD Bank of Mount Prospect on Aug. 9 to once again discuss some of the other improvements needed in the subdivision. The completion of the public use projects has been dragging on for an extended period of time.

"The engineers have been on site," said Silhan to the trustees in a recent meeting. "Plans have been submitted."

There are problems with the storm sewers and catch basins, creating drainage control problems. Walking paths have yet to be constructed and the ponds on the west side need to be cleaned.

It is expected the Pine Hills issue will once again be on the village board's agenda. Residents of Pine Hills attended the most recent village board meeting, but, on the whole, remained silent as they learned of yet another extension.

"If the progress is not what we want, we can cash their check and do the work ourselves," said Trustee Marvin Oldenburger. The extension will expire September 6.

Restaurants to award food scholarships

The Lake County Restaurant Association will award scholarships up to $1,000 to College of Lake County students pursuing a career in the food service industry.

Winners will be chosen on the basis of academic performance, work experience and future career goals.

Candidates must be Lake County residents enrolled full time in an accredited food service program.

Applicants must submit two reference letters, a resume, an official transcript from the school they most recently attended and a statement describing their financial need.

The application deadline is Sept. 6. Applications may be sent to Clifford Wener, College of Lake County, 19351 W. Washington St., Grayslake, IL 60030.

Immunization clinics held for children

The Lake County Health Dept. offers immunization clinics for Lake County children.

Childhood immunization clinics will be held at the following locations and times. A parent or guardian must accompany all children:

Shiloh Center, Emmaus and 27th Street, Zion, Aug. 19 from 9 to 11 a.m.; no appointment is necessary.

American Legion Post 867, Rtes. 176, 60 and 83, Mundelein. (Enter from Maple Street, one block south on Rte. 83), Aug. 24 from 9 to 11 a.m.; no appointment is necessary.

Antioch softball team gives strong effort in sectional

For the first time in five years, a girls' softball squad represented Antioch in sectional action.

Prospect Heights ousted Antioch in sectional play by a 17-14 score, but that was not without Antioch making a strong bid to upset the more experienced team from Prospect Heights.

Antioch scored six runs in the first inning and added one in the second, and two in the fourth to hold a 9-4 lead going into the fifth.

Shortstop Kelly Periman had to leave the game because of an illness, which resulted in a long delay from a controversy on substitution rules.

After the controversy was settled, Prospect Heights came to bat and scored eight runs to take a 12-9 lead. Antioch never recovered.

Coach Dennis Murphy said after Periman left the game, he had to move players into unfamiliar positions defensively which led to a number of fielding errors.

Lisa Murphy went the distance on the mound, striking out three and issuing seven walks.

Laura Deutsch was the defensive standout, playing shortstop and outfield.

Offensively, Murphy had three singles, one double and three RBIs. Deutsch connected for three singles. Deanne Dalgaard singled and tripled for two RBIs, and Sarah Rockow knocked in two with two singles and a double.

Antioch Waves finish season, name award winners

Antioch's swim team, the Waves, concluded its swim season by competing in the North Central Swim Conference finals in DeKalb.

The Waves placed 10th out of 15 teams in the season finale, and their dual meet season finished on the winning end of a 4-2 record.

"We had a very good year this year," said Waves Coach Gregg Henning, who has led the team for the past six years.

He said the team started slowly by losing its first couple of meets, but once the members began swimming as a team they were able to string together a couple of dual meet victories.

"At the end of the year, the kids came together as a team. They formed as a group and swam as a team instead of for individual marks," Henning said.

The conference finals were highlighted with a first-place finish by the 200-meter freestyle relay team of Josh Guros, Brian Murphy, Roger Behm and Rodney Behm.The foursome swam a 1:36.36-in the 15- to 18-year-old age bracket.

Other Antioch swimmers placing in the conference finals included:

- Ryan Rothermel (under 12 boys), third, 50-meter freestyle, 28.37;
- Murphy (15-18 boys), third, 100-meter freestyle, 53.56;
- Taylor Pechauer (under 8 boys), fifth, 25-meter breastroke, 23.27;
- Elizabeth Willding (under 6 girls), second, 25-meter freestyle, 22.17;
- David Roy (under 6 boys), third, 25-meter freestyle, 24.64;
- Guros (15-18 boys), fourth, 200-meter individual medley, 2:19.11;
- Kris Vanderkooy (12 and under boys), fourth, 100-meter backstroke, 34.65;
- Guros (15-18 boys), third, 100-meter backstroke, 1:02.32.

Coach Henning said some players, including Katianne Pechauer, Eliora Jares and Katie Meyers, will have prospective futures as they develop their swim skills.

"Some of our younger swimmers are incredible for their age categories," Henning said.

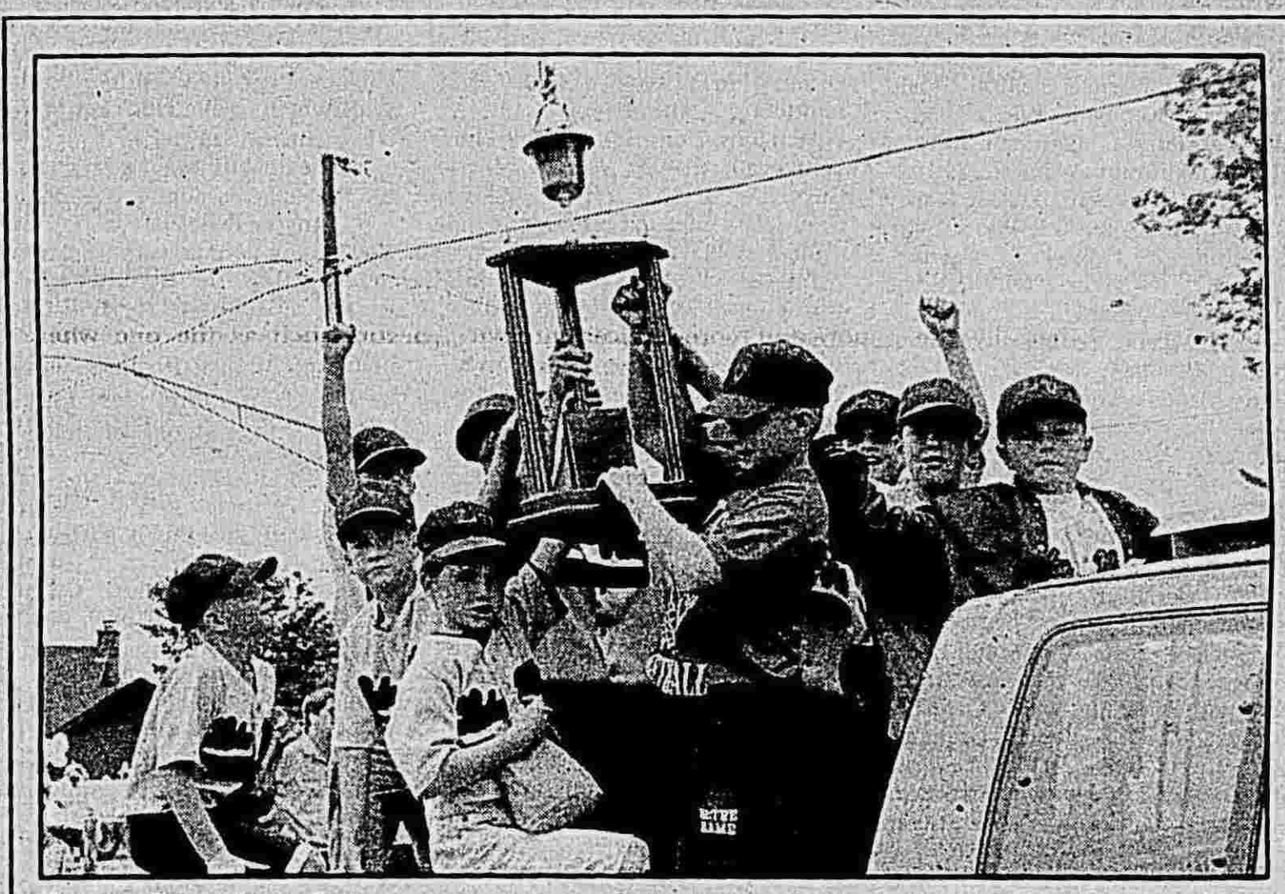

The Waves also named their season award winners.

Winning Most Dedicated awards included Bret Huotari, Maegan Petkus, Clare Sheehan, Kimberly Meyer, Joe Fusz and Dawn DeServi.

Earning the Most Improved awards included Lee Clark, David Roy, Kaitlyn Ament, Ross LeFave, Lindsay Bolton, Peter Ihlen, Heather Huotari, Doug Matiasek, Susan Barr, Mike Korczyk, Stephanie Zerbst and Jason Mondello.

The Most Outstanding awards were given to Catherine Eschbach, Bret Huotari, Eliora Jares, Taylor Pechauer, Katie Meyer, Ryan LeFave, Katianne Pechauer, Kris Vanderkooy, Jessica Kos, Joe Skurski, Dawn DeServi and Brian Murphy.

Rodney Behm was honored with the Dodd Award. The State Bank of the Lakes in Antioch, team sponsor, gives the Dodd Award to the individual who demonstrated team leadership.

Chiefs appreciate efforts of long-time fan Kowell

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Before the game against Taylorville, Utah, Kotch Kowell watched intently as the Lake County Chiefs tossed baseballs, ran laps and generally prepared for the third game of the AAU World Series.

Kowell, wearing a Chiefs t-shirt, gave the 12-and-under team her own version of a pep talk before an 11-2 win.

"When they hurt, I hurt; when they make an error, I make an error. When they get a hit, I get a hit," Kowell said.

Kowell is a Chicago resident who is great aunt to team member Matt Rollins. She attended last week's AAU World Series in Burnsville, Minn. as she has attended much of the Chiefs 50-plus games. The Chiefs concluded the post-season with a 4-2 mark at the World Series, good enough for a top ten finish.

"I enjoy the good chemistry on this team," Kowell said.

She likes the coaching style of Manager Art Mansavage, Tim Nolan and Rick Ruh - always positive. In turn, the coaches and players appreciate Kowell's interest.

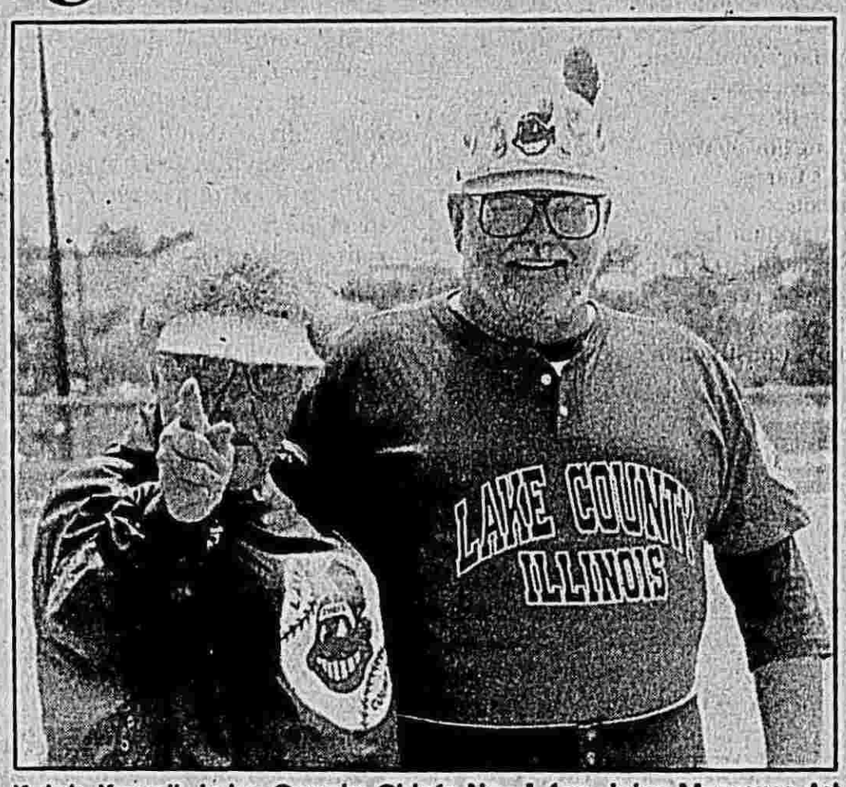

"She's great," Mansavage said.

"I think this team can do it," Kowell said of the Chiefs chances.

Kowell played baseball in a women's league in Chicago in the 1940's. She said the movie, "In A League of their Own" was realistic.

The Chiefs, who finished 46-10-2, made the trip north and pleased their loyal fans and parents by winning their first three games. It got tougher after that, as Rhode Island handed Lake County a 4-2 loss and San Diego eliminated the Chiefs 6-0.

Baseball notebook: The Chiefs participated as one of 87 teams in a parade before the Twins-Red Sox game at the Metrodome, the third to last day before the strike...The Twins won 5-2...One player's view of the big league work stoppage, the eighth in 22 years: "I think the players are greedy, but I will miss my favorite player, Mark Grace," Jamie Jankowski of Lake Zurich said.

Peebles looking to keep Rams at top for track

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Joel Peebles will be directing the track and field program next spring at Grayslake Community High School.

Peebles takes over for Mike Jones, who is still on staff at the school. Peebles, who came to Grayslake some 15 years ago, coached the boys and girls teams to three Northwest Suburban Conference championships in the last decade.

"This is a great position and with the growth, we would like to see more boys and girls tryout," Peebles said.

Peebles will be assisted by Brad Larson, who came on staff at the same time Peebles did. The Rams are looking to name two new assistant positions as Shelly Hubert resigned.

Peebles can recall the first years the Rams experienced track success in the early 1980's, leading up to the girls conference championship in 1984. The girls won the league again in 1987 but had to wait seven more years before gaining the trophy. The boys last title was in 1986.

"We want to defend the girls title and be competitive with the boys," Peebles said. "I would like to bring a banner (championship) to the high school."

While the girls team won the conference last year, the boys team did have its highlights as well. The 4x800 relay team of Jason Gannt, Jake Parsons, Steve Rezmer and Dan Bureau nearly tied the school record.

He is looking forward to a strong year with the boys team. It will be helped with the transfer of Chris Perssons, a state qualifier from North Carolina.

Standouts for the '94 Rams girls championship team included Jenny Dunbar, Lisa Titus, Becky Eiden, Molly Rundall and Sara Thorson.

Peebles is a native of Fon du Lac, Wis., who ran the 600 meters indoors and 800 meters outdoors. He later ran for the University of Wisconsin track team.

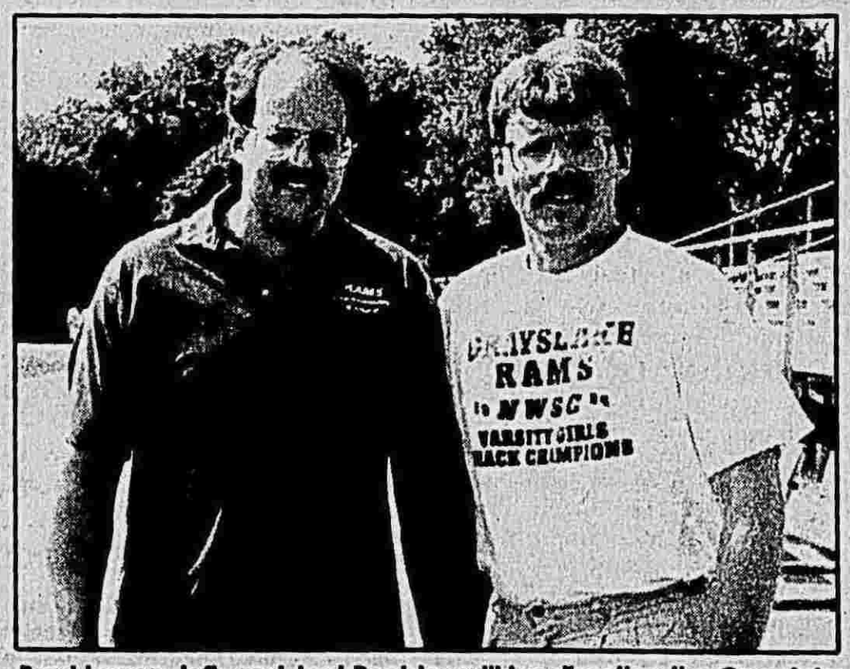

He may talk track literally at the drop of the hat, always willing to promote his sport. He has been a member of the board organizing the summer Fun Run in Grayslake.

The Rams have used the coordinator system in track for two years. "You have one person who has the pulse of both teams," Peebles said.

He credits his high school coach, Earl Jewett, with inspiring him to get into coaching.

Peebles will continue to coach cross country. "We have nearly won the title, finishing in second place seven times," he said.

Cross country begins with a 3:20 p.m. practice Aug. 15. The first home meet is Aug. 31 against Waukegan at Central Park.

Brad Larson, left, and Joel Peebles will be directing the Grayslake Community High School track and field program next spring. Peebles will coordinate both the boys and girls teams.

Wilmot reschedules all-star circuit of champions

The 13th Annual Wilmot Open Sprints sanctioned by The Club/All Star Circuit of Champions and sponsored by Miller Genuine Draft has been rescheduled for Sept. 9 at Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway.

Heavy rains hit the one-third mile clay oval just after the track was worked in on the first attempt to get the show in Aug. 3, then steady rains on the back side of a slow moving cold front on Aug. 4 forced the second postponement.

A 40-lap "A" Main paying $4,000 to win, part of a total purse of over $20,000, will be on the line in the final appearance in the Chicago-Milwaukee area for the All Stars.

Grandstand gates open at 5 p.m. with sprint time trials slated for 6 p.m. and the first race at 7 p.m. Rainchecks from Aug. 3 and 4 will be valid in September.

Sept. 9 grandstand admission is $15 for adults, $13 for senior citizens, active military and students ages 12 to 18; youngsters ages 8 to 11 pay $6; and ages 7 and under admitted free.

CLC cross country coach comes home with trophy

When College of Lake County cross country runners reported to fall practice this week, they may have received more than the usual "what I did on my summer vacation" talk.

Coach Karen Graham captured a trophy as the first female finisher in the Gurnee Days 10K race held Saturday at Viking Park.

"I like the rain," Graham said as raindrops began to get bigger following the finish.

Graham, a teacher at Grayslake Community High School, ran the course in 43:46.5. The Gurnee resident was the 38th finisher overall.

Graham is looking forward to CLC's season, which will feature an alumni race in October.

The winner was Jeremy Arndt, a 14-year-old from Beach Park, who ran it in 34:08.5. He edged second-place finisher Elia Zaghin of Wilmette.

Arndt is a senior at Waukegan High. "This was the third time I had run the course. I think it was shorter last year," he said.

He said he often runs with his teammates in the off-season.

Dennis Ray, age 29, was the first Gurnee finisher. He clocked a 38:33.4, good enough for 12th place.

The oldest runner was 65-year-old Jack Taylor of Waukegan, who finished 45th of 127 finishers.

The 2K race featured a battle between Gurnee residents Tony Pellettiere and Jay Bouma. Pellettiere defended his title, 12:07.1 to 12:08.2.

"I run a lot in my neighborhood," Pellettiere said.

The Warren Township High School freshman works at Gowe Beach this summer and will play soccer for Warren this season.

Laura Ross, age 12, was the top female finisher from Gurnee with a time of 14:25.0.

Nicky McDowell, age 13, of Wildwood, was fifth and Tom Peltier, age 35, of Gurnee, was sixth.

Jim Roche, age 47, of Mundelein, was the oldest runner, and he finished 20th.

IDOT announces dredging and raking

The Chain O' Lakes Fox River Waterway Management Agency wants permission for maintenance dredging and raking of 13 sites in various areas in Lake and McHenry counties,

And the Stepan Chemical Co. wants to perform maintenance dredging of a barge dock area on the Des Plaines River need Elwood, south of Joliet.

The agency and the company have applied for the pertinent permits from the department's Division of Water Resources.

Interested persons—either favoring or opposing the plans—are invited to send written comments.

The agency wants to do dredging and raking of sites in or along the Fox River, Pistakee Lake, Meyers Bay, Lake Jerilyn, Redhead Lake and Nippersink Lake.

The proposed work is from just south of the Stratton Lock & Dam up to the south end of Nippersink Lake.

The dredging would restore the existing channels to a depth of about six feet.

The site of the Stepan company is an estimated two miles upstream of the Interstate 55 bridge over the Des Plaines River, near Elwood.

Inquiries, written statements on the applications and requests to review plans should be directed to the Northern Area Office of the department's Division of Water Resources, 201 W. Center Ct., Schaumburg, IL 60196, call 705-4341 for further information.

Grayslake Summer Days steps off with parade

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

The fun is coming again to Grayslake with the annual Grayslake Summer Days Festival. Leading the Summer Days parade is Grayslake's most senior resident, Bessie Ritta, described as 101 years young.

Ritta's husband and father operated a house-moving business during the 1920s through 1957. The parade is scheduled for Aug. 20 at 11 a.m.

The festival is set for Aug. 19-20 in downtown Grayslake. The excursion is to take place around the village hall and the village will assist in closing off the necessary streets during the two days.

The festival, sponsored by the Grayslake Chamber of Commerce, will feature musical acts, food booths, games of chance, a beer garden, and a variety of demonstrations and particpant games for the whole family. The Grayslake Exchange Club will again have a beer booth.

Members of the newly formed Downtown Merchants Association will be sponsoring a sidewalk sale during the event.

The majority of the cost of this year's event is being underwritten by the local business community and local civic groups, as was done last year. Sponsorship was broken down into three different categories based on the level of financial support given by the businesses. All of the sponsorships for this year's event have already been sold, and the Chamber expressed appreciation for the generosity of those businesses or groups that will make this year's celebration a success.

Volunteer for Catholic Charities' Tag Days

Volunteers are needed to give at least two hours to help with Catholic Charities' seventh annual Tag Days on Sept. 9 and 10. Proceeds will benefit the agency's services to needy senior citizens who live in Cook and Lake counties.

During Tag Days, volunteers will be stationed in busy areas throughout Chicago and the suburbs with Eagle Snacks honey-roasted peanuts and red and white Catholic Charities' canisters inviting people to donate money. Tag Days will be from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. on both days.

Catholic Charities' elderly programs benefiting from Tag Days include abuse prevention, home help services, food programs, adult day care, affordable housing for seniors and job training. A small percentage of Tag Days' money will benefit some of Catholic Charities' programs for children, families and people lacking basic necessities.

To volunteer or for more information on Tag Days, call Ed Collins at C508-9605.

Improved advocacy offered for senior citizens

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

As a result of the Elderly Service Officers Training program, sponsored by the Illinois Attorney General's Office, there is a heightened awareness in Lake County of elderly victimization. Gail Blake, Senior Protective Services Elder Abuse Investigator of Catholic Charities, attended the 40 hour program which was held at the police academy in Springfield.

"The classes were tremendous," said Blake. "I just can't say enough good things about the program. The best thing about the classes was that they included both police officers as well as elder abuse investigators. At the end of the five-days there was bonding."

Blake said prior to the training program, she felt there was a "mutual distrust" between law enforcement and social workers. But, as a result of the program, that distrust has been converted to trust.

"The program helped me understand the frustrations police feel," explained Blake. "It also helped me to realize the amount of resources out there available to seniors. Not just in the county, but throughout the country."

The course's objective is foster an understanding of older residents and examining and improving police and social service response to elder victimization. According to Blake, better understanding and communication are necessary if aging and birth trends continue.

"By 2030, we will see as many people over 50 as under age 50," said Blake. "If we don't have things in place, we are going to have problems."

In the course, Blake learned that while older Americans fear physical violence, more elderly people are victims of financial crimes. "Scams against the elderly are more prevalent," said Blake.

These scams include palm readers, insurance schemes, unnecessary home repairs, black topping, illegal lottery schemes, lonely heart con men, apartment subletting schemes, medical quackery, night deposit scams, and faith healing. And, these are just a few of the ways quick-talking people take advantage of the elderly.

According to Blake, the elderly are often targets of these kinds of things because many seniors are afraid to report they are a victim. "People are afraid to make a report because they don't want anyone to know, especially their families," said Blake. Blake said that seniors do not want their families to think they can no longer take care of themselves or their businesses. In addition,

As long as no building is standing, Mettawa Trustee and W.W. Grainger antagonist Jere Zenko feels the fight against the Fortune 500 company will continue.

Until a building is actually erected, Zenko said Grainger officials can expect to be running in circles.

In the latest round, the Mettawa Village Board approved an open-ended motion to file suit against the Skokie-based company wishing to build its corporate headquarters near I-94 and Rte. 60. Last month, the County Board gave the okay to rezone the area to meet Grainger's needs after the corporation agreed to a generous list of zoning conditions.

Zenko said the grounds of the suit have not been determined yet, but she said both Grainger and the County will be parties.

"This concept that Grainger has won is malarkey," Zenko said. "The village is interested in preserving the existing zoning (countryside/estate), and the village has a right to determine its destiny."

She said that keeping the pressure on Grainger has produced good results. She pointed to the 257-acre donation to the Lake County Forest Preserve as a victory, and she noted the fact that Mettawa and the surrounding communities have been fighting Grainger for six years, and there is still no building.

Zenko said taking them to court is another stalling measure, and she said she is prepared to go the distance.

"We're in a time game here. There are so many things in play. I'll keep them running in circles," Zenko said.

There are a number of key issues still at play, including where Grainger is going to get its sewer. Also, Grainger will be confronting a county board with some new faces come November.

"Grainger is the last thing (County Chairman) Bob Depke will be able to use his political muscle and win," Zenko said.

She added that Grainger's conservation development plan is a good one where it's needed and where it's wanted. Mettawa does not need it or want it, North Chicago and Waukegan need it and want it, Zenko said.

"The county sent a strong signal: Why does anyone need to develop in Waukegan or North Chicago?" Zenko said.

And Mettawa sent a strong signal: Buckle up Grainger, there could be some bumpy roads ahead.

Congressman Crane, Walberg dispute anti-crime bill

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Congressman Philip Crane said the defeat of the Democrat-led anti-crime bill was the first step toward drafting a bill meant to fight crime, and not to fund other social programs.

Nine billion dollars of the $33-billion anti-crime package was slated for more than 30 pet social projects by Congressmen. The social programs and other pork barrel legislation attached to the bill were some of the determining factors that lead Republicans to vote against the bill last week.

Crane said the Democrats "really gutted the crime bill of any meaning" by including the social programs. "Social spending does not belong in a crime bill," he said.

Many Democrats agreed, as 58 broke ranks with the President Clinton endorsed bill. The House action was actually a vote whether to consider the bill. The defeat sends the bill back to conference to be re-drafted with both Democrat and Republican input.

"By forcing them back to conference, they have to negotiate with Republicans," Crane noted.

The bill authorized funding for what could have amounted to 100,000 new police officers nationwide. Crane called that provision another "unfunded mandate" on state and local authorities. He said the federal government would have provided the initial funding but funding would have been phased over time, leaving local departments with the responsibility to finance the new officers.

The bill also included the much-talked-about "three strikes and you're out" and "truth in sentencing" provisions. Crane said the Democrat version diluted the intent of the provisions by exempting 60 percent of the repeat criminals.

Banning assault weapons was another provision dividing Congressmen. Various studies indicate that deaths from assault weapons only account for one half of 1 percent of the total homicides.

"(They're) not the weapon of choice," Crane said of assault weapons. He added that more murders are committed by knives and handguns, and the ban would offend law-abiding citizens who own assault weapons. He opposes any assault weapon ban in a crime bill.

Crane said he would rather see provisions limiting the

Baseball fields closer

LAKE VILLA—Lake Villa Township Baseball League is a step further in its attempts to secure three baseball diamonds at the Sun Lake Forest Preserve. The Finance Committee of the Lake County Forest Preserve approved the concept plan for the fields and will work with the Village of Lake Villa on an intergovernmental agreement on the site. While the two sides are moving closer, concerns about parking, noise and sewer and water need to be addressed before the full board would give its approval, according to Steve Messerli, executive director.

Compost facility hearing

GRAYSLAKE—The DK Recycling Systems, Inc. composting facility on Route 60 in Grayslake has applied to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for a 10-year permit renewal. The current 3-year permit expires in September of this year. Because of public interest in the renewal application, the IEPA has scheduled a public hearing for Aug. 24 at 7 p.m. at the Grayslake Park District Legion Building at 42 S Seymour St in Grayslake. The 4.5 acre facility accepts landscape waste with an annual volume of 40,000 cubic yards.

Passenger killed in accident

ROUND LAKE—Jennifer Mecier, 34, of Ingleside was pronounced dead at Northern Illinois Medical Center in McHenry last Sunday evening. She was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by Roger Kenna, of Round Lake Park, when it struck another vehicle at the corner of Hart and Fairfield Roads causing her to fly 100 feet into the west side of Hart Road where she was struck by another vehicle driven by James Wheeler of McHenry. Officer Gerard Hendricks said he will go to the States Attoney's Office to determine if charges are to be filed.

Engineer undergoing therapy

LAKE LONG—The engineer of the Metra express train which hit and killed a Long Lake woman, is currently undergoing counseling."It was a traumatic experience for him," explained Chris Knappton of Metra. Lindenhurst resident Paul Rowland is on leave from his job, and Knappton said he doesn't know if the engineer plans to return to work anytime soon, or even at all. The Metra representative explained often when a situation happens like the one where Stephanie Pease-Basile was killed while crossing the Main St. tracks to get to work, a train engineer may become so traumatized, often they never return to their jobs.

Trustees KO special tax area

GURNEE—Approximately 500 homeowners' lots in Gurnee's westernmost area will be managed in the traditional homeowners association format. The builder, Sundance Homes, proposed a Special Service District for the development, but the idea was rejected by village trustees. The board voted 4-2 to deny a bid to set up the village's first such district.

No agreement in fee debate

MUNDELEIN—Fremont School faces the opening of the 1994-95 school year with a few students already coming out of the Cambridge North development. With the tax lag, the district will receive no income until 1996. The school board is still in negotiation with Cambridge Homes over the developer's offer of $63,000 per acre as a contribution in lieu of impact fees. The stumbling block centers on the fair market value of the property.

Parents busted for teen party

HAWTHORN WOODS—The Hawthorn Woods Police Department enforced its Parental Responsibility ordinance for the first time. Following an underage drinking party, police cited 10 17- and 18-year-old males for unlawful possession and consumption of alcohol. The owners of the home where the party was held were also cited for violating the village's newly enacted Parental Responsibility Ordinance. Although the parents were away on vacation, the ordinance holds parents responsible for underage drinking at their place of residence. Violating the ordinance carries with it a minimum $500 fine. Hawthorn Woods police said they hope the message is spreading that underage drinking will not be tolerated.

Celebration in Grayslake

GRAYSLAKE—Downtown Grayslake's annual celebration, Grayslake Summer Days is set for Aug. 19-20. The event includes a parade, led by 101-year-old Bessie Ritta, musical acts, food booths, games of chance, a beer garden, and a variety of participant games and demonstrations for the whole family. The Grayslake Area Chamber of Commerce sponsors the festival with the aid of member merchants and businesses. The retailers of the Downtown Merchants Association of Grayslake will be sponsoring a sidewalk sale during the event.

Board approves land swap

GURNEE—Gurnee trustees approved a land swap with developers surrounding the municipal golf course. The board approved authorization of execution for the deed to the golf course with NBD Bank. "This has some clean-up items such as legal description changes and some trading of land. The village will give up 24,748 square feet and will receive 20,957 square feet. This will square off the boundaries but will not affect playability or layout of the course," Village Administrator Jim Hayner said. The 18-hole course may be ready for play in 1995.

Taxes on their minds

ANTIOCH—As a result of the higher property assessments, taxes are very much on the minds of Antioch residents. Township officials report receiving a number of phone calls about the assessments that were sent out last week. While some residents are just grumbling, others are preparing to mount an attack. Some subdivisions are contacting subdivision residents to file group appeals with the county.

No rodeo charges filed

WAUCONDA—The Lake County States Attorney has determined no charges should be filed against the Wauconda Rodeo for cruelty to animals or a bystander accused of battery. "We have decided not to file charges in either of the cases," said Michael J. Waller. Both stemmed from animal rights activist who complained of abuses to animals and from one protester being struck in the face by a passenger in a pick-up truck following the rodeo's July 8 performance. As far as Waller is concerned, the cases involving the rodeo are over.

Village wants home rule status

Village officials have been discussing putting a home rule question on a ballot, and may decide to wait until the spring 1995 election. Mayor Deborah A. Vasels said unless village staff comes up with information quickly, it will become too late to place the issue on the November ballot.

Home-rule would allow the village to implement taxes available to only home-rule communities, such as imposing a sales tax of .25 or .5 percent that could raise up to $2 million per year, an official said. This would enable them to pay for increased facilities, such as fire fighting equipment, a new police station and roadway improvements.

Pet of the Week

Ashley has special need

Ashley is a 5 year old, spayed female, medium size, black/tan shepherd mix. Even a dog who had a home, can be an "abandoned" pet, and that's what happened to our Ashley. Ashley was left alone, on a chain, in a yard, with food, water and little else; no love, no care, no play and no quality human interaction. She languished there until the authorities finally removed her and brought her to Orphans of the Storm. Understandably, when Ashley first came, she was painfully shy, scared and unresponsive.

After months of rehabilitation, Ashley has learned how to wag her tail and soak in all the love she can get. She has also learned how to hug and ask for love. Ashley has come a long way, but she still has a way to go. She is a smart dog who needs gentle, patient, consistent love, positive interaction and training by people she knows care about her. In this way, she will learn to trust and develop self-confidence. Once she does, she will be an extremely sweet, docile, quiet bundle of love who will consider her family to be her savior, and she will be touchingly devoted forever. Here since December of 1993, Ashley is in desperate need of a loving, lasting home.

A cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, leash, collar, follow-up care, first shots and more. Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., in Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week. Call 945-0235 for further information.

number of habeas corpus appeals which "have really clogged the courts," he said. He would also strengthen the "three strikes and you're out" provision to assure that repeat felony offenders serve their sentences in prison.

Back on the homefront, Bob Walberg, Crane's Democrat challenger for the 8th Congressional seat, held a press conference in Palatine while Representatives were voting on the anti-crime measure in Washington.

Walberg, who supported the bill, said Crane is out of touch with his constituents who Walberg said support measures such as the assault weapons ban.

"He had an opportunity to vote on a bill to make our communities safer but didn't," Walberg said of Crane.

Walberg added that the $33 billion bill would have gone "a long way to providing a safer environment for our families" and "to help curb the rising tide of crime."

Walberg pointed out that crimes related to assault weapons dropped dramatically when former President George Bush placed a ban on imported assault weapons.

Walberg supported the measures that would have provided for additional police officers. He also favors legislation that would create a National Police Corps, which would mirror the high school ROTC program.

"Students could pay for college by giving back two to three years to your community in police service," Walberg said.

Seniors

Blake said she learned that the elderly are more frequently targets of financial crime because they keep more money in their homes and are often more trusting than younger people.

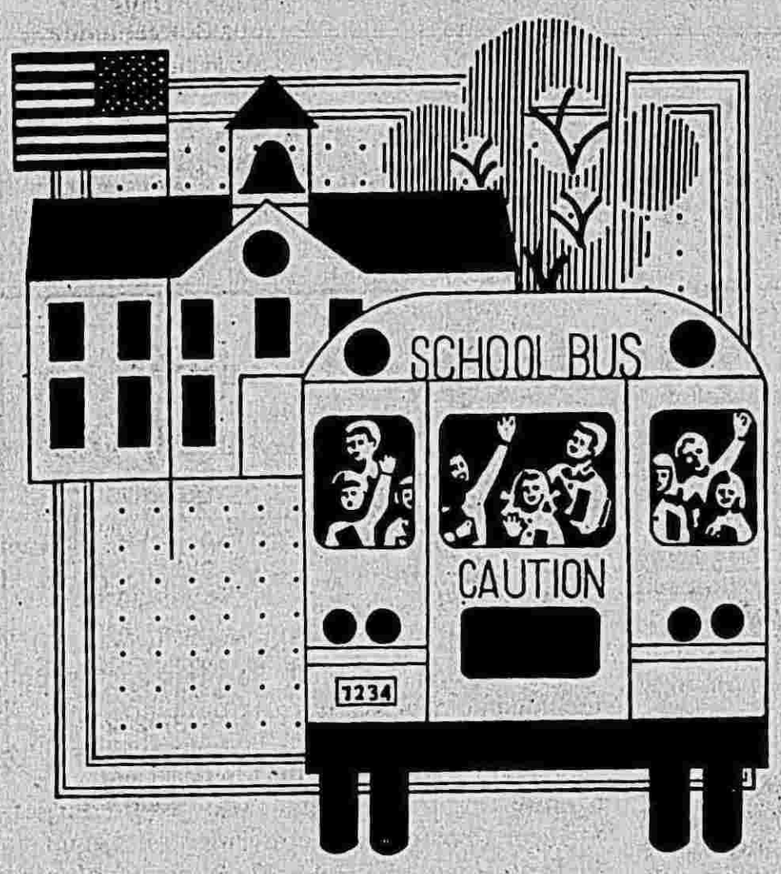

Besides the helpful information, Blake especially enjoyed the networking between agencies. Those attending the program now publish a newsletter that just went nationwide. "It was great to meet other service providers," she said.

Blake also had high praise for other organizations providing services to the elderly. In particular the Lake County Sheriff's Department's "Are you okay" program, and Commonwealth Edison's "Gate Keeper" program. "Local authorities couldn't be better," Blake said.

For more information about the various programs for the elderly in Lake County, call 546-5733 or 1(800)-942-3930 evenings and weekends. As Blake explained it, "I am on call 24-hours a day."

SCHOOL BUS SAFETY TIPS

FOR THE PASSENGERS:

- School buses provide a safe ride to school. Always follow the bus safety rules and obey the driver.
- Always stay in your set while the bus is moving. Do not disturb the driver.
- Sit and talk quietly while riding the bus. Do not make loud noises.
- Obey crossing guards and school bus drivers. They will help you get on and off the bus safely.
- Before you cross the street to get on a school bus, look right then left again.
- Before crossing the street while getting on and off the bus, look for the special sign from the school bus driver that is safe to cross. Always cross in front of the bus and far enough ahead of the bus to see the driver's signal.

Law enforcement getting face-lifting

The face of local law enforcement is changing rapidly. While violence and danger ever lurk, police work here and in neighboring communities is more high tech and socially orientated than cops and robbers of years past.

Waukegan has a bicycle patrol. Lake Zurich issues courtesy tickets as a means of spotlighting potential danger. Mundelein operates a police command post in a high crime apartment complex and maintains a full-time officer in the high school to heighten law enforcement visability.

Now Grayslake is studying the feasibility of establishing a foot patrol in the business district. Police Chief Dennis Koletsos chuckles at the thought of "going back to olden times," but an officer on a beat would be a serious step toward heightening citizen interaction with law enforcement.

"Interaction" is the buzz word of local enforcement these days, the key to making the concept of community policing work.

Outmanned and often out-gunned by well-armed gangs, law enforcement leaders see increasing department eyes and ears through community policing as a means of leveling the playing field with rising crime or at least providing law officers with more tools.

We see the new breed of law enforcement officials being aggressively pro-active in keeping the peace and improving the quality of life as opposed to old-fashion, head-knocking policing that essentially is reactive.

Call it "touchy, feely" law enforcement, but the modern approach offers the opportunity to "make things better," as one police professional put it, "before they get ugly."

Closing of courts frazzles officials

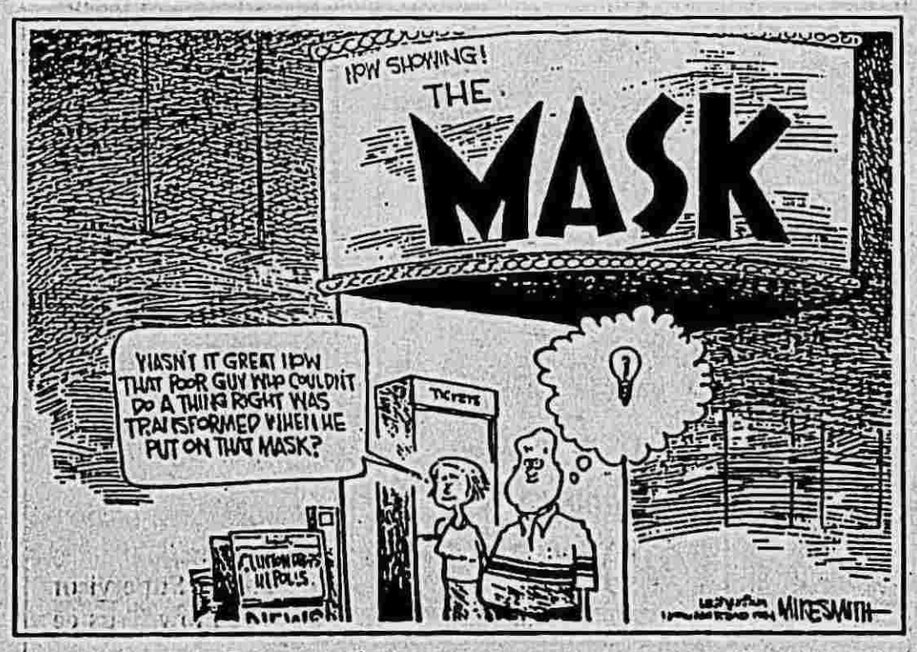

County bureaucrats have been whittling away for a long time at a once bright idea—a network of Branch Circuit Courts that would be convenient for court users (mostly traffic offenders) and save local police time away from duty for court appearances and costly overtime pay.

At one time, the decentralized court plan was hailed by officialdom as an "enlightened way to bring the courts and government closer to the people." Alas. Time has a way of turning good intentions into bad systems. Court aides complained about inefficiencies. Host villages grumbled about problems associated with court traffic. Fox Lake officials became openly contemptuous of "riff raff" coming to their community for court appearances. Besides, rent paid by the county was chronically below market, local politicians groused.

The once enlightened system eroded into new enlightment: close the branches and save. Slated for closure in the latest round are branches at Prairie View, Zion and North Chicago. Vernon Hills Police Chief Gary Kupsak sees the plan as a plot to undercut his tight budget. Circuit Court Clerk Sally Coffelt and County Board Rep. Pam Newton (R-Vernon Hills) tussled in the heat of debate. Chiefs from Lincolnshire, Buffalo Grove and Zion have voiced displeasure. The closing isn't going easily.

County Board members acted wisely. They voted 13 to 8 to delay a decision until their September meeting. Equivocation is the better part of valor. Besides, maybe a deal or two can be worked out with more time.

What the county is opting for is two mass production "ticket mills," one currently in operation at a Grayslake shopping center and another at space to be remodeled in Lakehurst Mall. "Cost efficient and convenient," remarked Circuit Judge John Goshgarian. Efficiency and convenience for who?

Health law 'good' for political pros

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Scary, but long before the snow flies, there may be new health-care legislation intruding in the way you handle family health needs.

It's all a numbers game. As Rush Limbaugh puts it: "What are the Democrats waiting for? They've got the votes. They can pass any health bill they want."

Indirect results of new federal health care laws likely will have a great impact on the daily lives of Americans than purported benefits themselves: new taxes on insurance premiums, hefty cigarette tax, changes in the way Medicare is administrated.

Because the Democrats need a lift for the 1994 Congressional races and a Clinton Repeat in 1996, the politics of winning dictate that something be put on the books, not a Hillary-style overhaul, but something.

And here's what's really scary. Any kind of health bill will be good for the Republicans as well. They'll have something to run against.

Dick Cheney, former Sec. of Defense and a former GOP Congressman, is flooding the mails with an opinion poll on health—and a fund raising request when he says the surrender of individual freedoms is frightening. He sees health care meddling as cutting back on your choice of a doctor, picking your hospital or clinic, needless waiting, increasing unemployment and greatly increasing the national deficit.

In the end, health care politics is a "can't lose" proposition for the pros in both parties. But we all know who the real losers will be, don't we?

Armand's time-out gig for angioplasty provided drummer Jim Sanford of Zion and sax man Bob Schroeder of Antioch a brief vacation. Noted for tasteful servings of 40's and 50's hits, the group never has gotten around to picking a name. Members of the trio take turns serving as leader.

Zoning hurts children

Editor:

Our service recently received a phone call from a family who is planning to purchase a home in the southwest corner of Lake County. As a licensed child care provider for several years, the wife is planning to continue this service in her new home in Lake County. The problem: in the community where they were ready to purchase a home—zoning laws are prohibitive regarding this service.

These restrictive regulations exist in spite of the fact that over 57 percent of women with children under age 6 are working. It is estimated that by the year 2000, 70 percent of pre-school children will have mothers working outside the home. These statistics reveal a great demand for child care now and in the future. Child care centers offer one alternative, but many parents prefer family child care for infants and toddlers.

It behooves any public official to become informed of the child care needs in their community. Lack of quality child care can influence a family's decision not to buy a home in a community. Family child care and center child care offer a much needed service for working parents.

Kids event successful

Editor:

The Kids 1st Health Fair owes its success to the monetary and in-kind contributions of county businesses, service organizations, coalitions, schools and churches. The major contributors included Abbott Laboratories Fund, Northwestern University, The Early Intervention Council of Lake County, Baxter International, Commerce Clearing House, Waukegan Township, Allstate, American National Bank of Libertyville, Federal Life Insurance Co., Hollister, Dean Witter Financial Services, J.D. Searle and Caremark.

In addition to this list, there were about 90 more donors! Hospital Partnerships' support included doctors and nurses from Finch University of Health Sciences/Chicago Medical School, Highland Park Hospital, the Medical Center of Lake County/Condell Hospital, Midwestern Regional Medical Center, St. Therese Medical Center and Victory Hospital. The 480 medical volunteers teamed with the 168 community volunteers assured a successful event that overcame the waiting times experienced by last year's fairgoers. The enthusiasm expressed by our volunteers even led one of our 1993 workers to become our successful Fundraiser Chair in 1994.

The 30 social, educational and recreational agencies who were at the fair to provide information to those attending as well as the entertainers who offered their services helped to make it a multi-dimensional event. Waukegan High School Dist. 60's efforts to supply not only the site but also the manpower to help the fair function smoothly is deeply appreciated.

Out of more than 1,500 children attending, 1,250 children (whose families live on limited means) received medical services. They all will start school this fall with their medical, dental and school supply needs met. The 0- to 4-year-olds were given lead tests and the immunizations they needed as well as screening for developmental delays, hearing

Await new developments in Coffelt-Newton feud

Coffelt

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political opinion, is prepared from staff reports.

Insiders are predicting that there will be new developments in the feud between fellow Republicans Circuit Clerk Sally Coffelt and County Board Rep. Pamela Newton (R-Vernon Hills).

Both Coffelt and Newton backed away from expansion on differing opinions over the proposed closing of Branch Circuit Court in Prairie View in Newton's district. The truce may be short-lived, according to onlookers.

Coffelt "popped a cork" because Newton went directly to Prairie View personnel. Coffelt was incensed that Newton "had no right to talk to my employees." Observers reported that Newton shook off Coffelt when the clerk attempted to grab her arm to discuss the closing plan one-on-one.

Newton

The encounter included a reported threat from Coffelt that she would intercede in Newton's campaign for reelection this November.

The bottom line is that by being a team player and supporting the GOP line on the Grainger rezoning, Newton has accumulated sufficient stature to dictate what statutory officers can or can't do. In Chicago they call that clout.

"I'm not such a bad guy after all."

A mouse in the house—Hawthorn Woods trustees were not the only ones to get excited over whether the village should remain a member of the Corridor Planning Council, another guest appeared to be excited by the flaming debate as well. A mouse literally surfaced from the dark corners of the Village Barn, interrupting the meeting. It was seen scrurring under the chairs of the trustees. The mouse caused such a disturbance that trustees urged Chief of Police William Urry to shoot it, and Village President Douglas Challos offered his gavel to "club him." Animal rights activists should not get alarmed. The trustees did not harm the furry, little critter, although Trustee Sharon Coromilas and Village Clerk Rozzi Hoogenakker rested their feet above the floor for the remainder of the meeting.

Sleazy campaign trick

Editor:

In a recent letter sent statewide, Patrick Quinn attacked George Ryan for accepting the security detail the General Assembly has provided for the elected Secretary of State. Quinn says that "I do not intend to have any (bodyguards) as Secretary of State." And he proposes a statute that would limit the use of bodyguards for statewide elected officials to cases where "a threat presents a clear and present danger to the personal safety of the officeholder."

Quinn is not leveling with us. He's not stupid and he's been around. He must know that George Ryan as Secretary of State is subject to credible threats, "presenting a clear and present danger to his personal safety" on a regular basis from drunk drivers whose licenses he has lifted. And Quinn surely knows that Ryan couldn't prudently disclose specific threats for fear of encouraging others. So Quinn can hammer away at Ryan's security, relying on Ryan's own concern for his own safety to keep him quiet about the real threats to the Secretary of State.

If this sleazy trick helps him get elected, Quinn can cheerfully accept a full security detail the minute he gets a credible death threat, saying that the conditions in his proposed statute were the conditions of his own "intent" to refuse bodyguards.

Patrick Quinn has played even this life and death issue like a reckless, hypocritical demagogue. Is he the kind of person we want as Secretary of State?

Board enjoys hindsight

Editor:

I was very surprised to read that Woodland Elementary District 50 has a growth problem. This was certainly not the image that Supt. Dennis Conti or the incumbent school board members projected during the last school board election.

It is refreshing to hear the truth finally being revealed. Woodland needs another school and possibly two new schools to handle the growth in enrollment. Woodland has also announced another possible option, which is year-round schooling. However, that issue raises many questions. How does year-round schooling reduce the size of a classroom? What do the majority of families with two working parents do with their children who would be at home for 15 days after they attended school for a 60-day period? The concept of year-round schooling will place an additional burden on families with two working parents. Are the mother or father expected to take a 15-day vacation from work every 60 days to supervise the children? Many families cannot afford this alternative. Should they be penalized for this situation? Are there any day-care centers that offer a 15-day program?

This is an incredibly sad situation. We are talking about the future of our children's education. However, we must realize that we live in a real world, where this amount of funding to build new schools is unreasonable. People all over Lake County are "TAXED-OUT" and are tired of receiving higher property tax bills every year. Also, let's look at the lack of success in passing school referendums in other villages in Lake County. Shouldn't the facts tell us something about our chances of funding $50 million for two new schools in Woodland School Dist. 50? What it does tell me is that the Woodland School Board's hindsight is much better than it's foresight.

Good Neighbor

Editor:

We are well aware that there is a need to assist low income seniors and disabled individuals with various tasks associated with maintaining their homes and independent lifestyles.

Using public equipment such as township trucks and plows in addition to funding for the employees' salaries of private property is strictly prohibited by state statute. Since the township board is not capable of performing such a service within the limits of the law, we certainly cannot authorize any other government agency to provide the snowplowing on private property. Consider the ramifications of allowing government officials to use government property for private use.

Lake Villa Twp. is offering our low income residents with a viable and legal alternative. The "Good Neighbor Program" enlists volunteers from our community. We welcome individuals, organizations, church and school youth groups, as well as family members to assist these individuals with various tasks. Volunteers are invited to submit their names to the township supervisor's office at 356-2116. Any individual who anticipates needing assistance with yard maintenance or transportation such as an occasional trip to the doctor's office should also call in to have their name put on a corresponding list.

CLC Board receives deed for Globe

In a special pre-board meeting ceremony, College of Lake County trustees completed the purchase of the Globe department store from the Waukegan city council. CLC board Chairperson Barbara Oilschlager presented a copy of the check for the building to Waukegan Mayor Bill Durkin and, in return, Mayor Durkin presented a copy of the building deed to Oilschlager.

CLC and the City of Waukegan entered a preliminary agreement on March 15 for purchase of the building to expand the Lakeshore Campus. Under the agreement, CLC agreed to purchase the downtown Waukegan building for $185,000 and invest a minimum of $2 million to remodel and repair the building. The City of Waukegan will provide 300 parking spaces, leasing 150 for the college's exclusive use.

Oilschlager and Mayor Durkin were joined at the ceremony by City of Waukegan officials, Lakeshore Campus advisory committee members and CLC officials.

"Tonight marks a new commitment to Lakeshore Campus, a commitment in which we celebrate the continued partnership between the college and the community in our mutual efforts to enrich the quality of life of the residents of Lake County," said Oilschlager as she accepted the deed. "Through this inter-governmental agreement between CLC and the Waukegan City Council, the Globe building becomes the property of CLC. Once it is renovated, the facility will allow us to expand our curricular offerings and student services at Lakeshore."

The Lakeshore Campus expansion, expected to be completed by the end of 1995, will provide for additional classrooms, new laboratories and a child care center.

Following a public hearing, the board approved the fiscal year 1995 budget at the regular monthly meeting. The $36.2-million budget, on display since July 5, represents a 4.3 percent increase over last year. This year, 65.2 percent ($23.6 million) of the budget will go directly to instruction, academic support and student service, according to Arthur Kent, vice president of administrative affairs. Last year, about 62.1 percent of the budget went to these direct student instruction and service areas.

"The higher percentage of resources allocated for instruction and instructional support reflects the college's emphasis on improving and expanding academic programs and student services," Kent said after the meeting.

In other business, the board accepted the college administration's recommendation to ask the Capital Development Board to reject construction bids for the multi-use classroom and instructional performing arts buildings at the Grayslake campus. The board further directed the administration to work with state officials and local architects to redesign the buildings within the budgetary guidelines. The board took this action after reviewing the construction bids which exceeded original project estimates.

In other action, the board accepted more than $200,000 in grants from the Illinois Community College Board for the Center for Economic Development to provide training for local businesses and purchase instructional equipment for the college's career programs. Additionally, the board accepted federal and state grants totaling $513,076 to renew adult and continuing education programs.

In purchasing, the board approved the repair and replacement of the badly deteriorated access roads and catch basins on the Grayslake campus by Kirschhoffer Construction Co. in Zion at a total cost of $262,000. This Life Safety Project has been approved by the Illinois Community College Board.

Finally, the board passed a resolution recognizing the services of Harold Mitchell, who is retiring from CLC after serving more than 19 years as head custodian.

Reservists to provide medical support in Croatia

In this time of "rightsizing" Naval Reservists are once again being called upon for assistance in international crises. Six Reservists from fleet Hospital (FH) 22, which is administered by Naval Reserve Readiness Command (REDCOM) Region 13 out of Great Lakes, were selected from 14 billets nationwide to support UN peacekeeping forces in Zagreb, Croatia.

"This deployment is to support Field Hospital Zagreb," said LT Paul Jacob, REDCOM 13 Medical Training Officer. "They will provide medical support to UN forces."

"This was set up to integrate the reserves into the active duty forces that are there right now," said Jacob.

The Naval Bureau of Medicine (BUMED) authorized 14 billets for the reserves in this operation. To be selected a reservist had to be recommended by their Fleet Hospital Commanding Officer, and BUMED chose 14 from a pool of reservists nationwide.

Upon selection, each reservist had to go through a short training course to prepare for this deployment. "In July they had to complete the Fleet Hospital Operations and Training Command (FHOTC) Phase II at Camp Pendleton, Calif.," said Jacob. "This type of training consisted of emergency response and mass casualty-type exercises."

The 14 reservists will leave the United States August 23 and are scheduled to return February 17, 1995. These reservists will be deployed 179 days.

HM2 Richard Whitten, a reservist out of Naval Reserve Center (NRC) Decatur, is a paramedic/EMTI with Arrow Ambulance in Champaign, Ill. and is one of the 14 selected to go to Zagreb.

"We will be working with two other hospitals in Zagreb to take care of citizens and the UN peacekeeping forces," said Whitten.

His main job will be to go out to get the wounded and bring them back to the hospital. "It will be a real good experience," said Whitten. "We will be taking care of people who are a lot more appreciative of the care."

This mission is dangerous, but Whitten is ready for the challenge. "I feel confident in my skills and what I've got from my training," he said.

The best part of this mission is "knowing that they're better off with my help," said Whitten.

Also chosen to go was HM3 Kristina Whitten, an operating room technician also with NRC Decatur who works as an oral surgery assistant in Champaign, Ill. in her daily job and Richard Whitten's sister.

Being selected from 14 nationwide was a feat in of itself, but two selected from the same family was quite another.

"I was shocked when I heard my brother and I were both selected," said Kristina. "There were so many people with the qualifications needed (to choose from). I thought our chances were nil to none."

"At least we will be together," said Kristina. "We'll both have someone to lean on for support."

The two Whittens will be assigned to Camp Pleso, which is south of Zagreb, Croatia. "It currently provides medical assistance for nearly 36,000 troops from 34 countries assigned to the United Nations Protection Force throughout the Former Republic of Yugoslavia." (MSGT Charlie Morgan, USAF, Navy Medicine).

"My parents were kind of 'basket-cases' for a while when they heard we both were going," said Kristina. "We do have a (younger) brother just graduating from (Navy) boot camp, but we're not a military family. (Once they calmed down), my parents were pretty proud (since only 14 were chosen in the country), and my Mom said 'You do know your job, and you do it well.'"

"I have mixed emotions (about this deployment)," said Kristina. "At times I'm kind of excited, and at times I have no clue what's going to happen to us over there. (We know we) have a lot of barriers to overcome, and a lot of uncertainties (before us)."

"It will be great to lend them a hand," said Kristina. "We just hear about (this situation) on the news. Now we'll be there, and it's going to be a part of history."

"Those personnel being selected from FH22 proves that FH22 individuals are ready and capable of assuming any given task put before them," said LT Jacob. "Their readiness levels due to FH training and their civilian jobs (in the health services field) prepared them for this mission."

"That's what (being a part of the medical profession) is all about...," said Kristina. "...helping, caring or lending an ear...providing comfort whenever possible."

School's Open Safety Week

Gov. Jim Edgar has proclaimed Aug. 22-26 as "School's Open Safety Week" in Illinois.

In his proclamation, Edgar alerts motorists to the need for special attention to children walking to and from school as they return to classes. Extra driving care also is needed near school bus stops.

NICASA opens center for women, children

The new Women and Children's Center of the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA) officially opened this week at 2031 Dugdale Ave., North Chicago.

About 200 people attended a celebration Sunday, Aug. 14, billed as a "Community Shower" and "Family Fun Day." Participants donated gifts, enjoyed refreshments and entertainment and toured the remodeled church, once home to the Chapel of the Cross and now home to the intensive day treatment program for substance-abusing, poverty-ridden women and their children.

Program components include outreach and transportation services, medical services, nutritional services, skill building services, children's services and gender and culturally specific programming on such topics as sexual abuse, racism, domestic violence and assertiveness training.

"NICASA has embraced the spirit of giving in a most meaningful way," said
Rear Admiral Mack Gaston, commander of the Great Lakes Naval Training Center and a member of NICASA's Board of Directors.

Speaking before he helped cut the ribbon outside the front door of the one-story brick structure, Admiral Gaston praised project director Joann Jacobs and her staff for helping women take charge of their own lives and raise healthy, productive children.

"We are helping to mold our future in the most positive way," he said.

Bobby Thompson, North Chicago's mayor, also praised NICASA and the new center.

"I'm honored to have you in the neighborhood," the mayor said.

Illinois Secretary of State George Ryan, who was unable to attend, commended NICASA in a letter "for your efforts to address the serious, and sometimes overwhelming, needs of substance abusing women. I have the utmost respect for the leadership you have shown in providing intensive day treatment and support and advocacy for the vulnerable population you serve."

Joining Thompson and Gaston in cutting the ribbon was Laverne Garris, a founding member of the Chapel of the Cross. The church recently merged with Trinity United Lutheran Church of Waukegan.

David Amory, president of NICASA's Board of Directors, welcomed participants and Nancy Magee, president of the Women's Board of NICASA, was co-chair of the celebration.

Noting that two invocations were offered at the beginning of the ceremony, Magee said, "We're in good hands when we're doubly blessed." She thanked the volunteers for their hard work and saluted Jacobs and her staff.

Jacobs, in turn, offered special thanks to Deborah Cassale, NICASA's director of finance, administration and development "for making the program a reality," and Judy Fried, NICASA's executive director, for her vision. Cassale had written much of a grant proposal that resulted in federal funding of the project and Fried had recognized the need for women to receive gender-specific substance abuse treatment built on an empowerment model.

Women represent 40 percent of the addiction population, but only 23 percent of the treatment slots in Illinois are filled with women, Fried said.

Choir tells the world

Beautiful music reaching out to others is what a special interdenominational choir is all about.

Tell the World is a choir based out of Wauconda's Evangelical Free Church which has been dazzling audiences for 14 years with their mix of contemporary gospel sounds.

"It's contemporary Christian Music," Walt Martin, director said. "We sing all types of gospel, we sing country, bluegrass, black and traditional southern gospel and we play the artists such as Sandi Patti and Steve Green."

The group goes to area churches for Sunday performances. The unique part of the choir is its ability to adapt.

"We use a special performance sound system so we can change sounds easily," Martin said.

The choir is in the process of searching for a few more singers. Martin said he is looking for tenors and bass but has a need for all singing parts.

Doctor and family provide heavenly harmony to Central American church

The bell at the top is one of three bronze beauties to echo heavenly sounds from a Guatemalan church. Thanks to Dr. William Dam, below, with Holland-native Janske Timmermans, and Dam's wife, Meredith Anderson-Dam, on the far right, the bells will ring out for a long time to come. On the right is the bell tower also donated by the Dam family of Fox Lake.

Benedictine Monks in a small Guatemalan village were happy when a much needed church was finally going to be constructed.

The building plans were beautiful, but were lacking one thing—the promise that the townspeople would be hearing a heavenly sound echo through the hills and trees.

Doctor William C. Dam, former mayor of Fox Lake and proprietor of the Westlake Clinic in Ingleside, was asked along with his wife, Meredith, if they would be willing to donate bells and a bell tower.

Dr. Dam's interesting life history prompted the link to the church in Central America.

Before he was a physician, Dr. Dam attended the St. Meinrad Seminary and then became a cloistered monk with the Marmion Abbey.

The newly constructed mission in Quetzaltenango is conducted by the Benedictine Monks of Marmion Abbey in Aurora, Illinois.

But Meredith and Dr. Dam didn't know where to begin. They had inquired at a few places and none of them sold the big bronze bells.

A friend in Fox Lake, Dee Frost of Jack Frost Iron Works thought she could be of assistance. Dr. Dam and his wife browsed thorough a large number of catalogs which sold literally everything there was to buy. But still no bells!

The Dams soon found out that none of the big bells are made or sold anywhere in the United States, Canada, Mexico or South America. The best sounding and most beautiful bells are made in Holland, and come from a company called Petit & Fritsen—bellfounders since 1660.

For America's Bi-Centennial, bells were made at the Dutch company especially for our country's celebration and shipped to the U.S.

The Fox Lake family discovered this after talking with a Dutch friend, a nurse who worked with Dr. Dam in the 1970s at the Machame Hospital in Tanzania, Africa.

The Dam's noted they named their daughter Marike the same as their Dutch friend's child. (The Dam's also have two other children Case and John).

Janske Timmermans said she simply asked the priest at her church where the bells in his building came from.

Dam and his wife chose a set of three bronze beauties from the "Glory Series" and named each one after a saint.

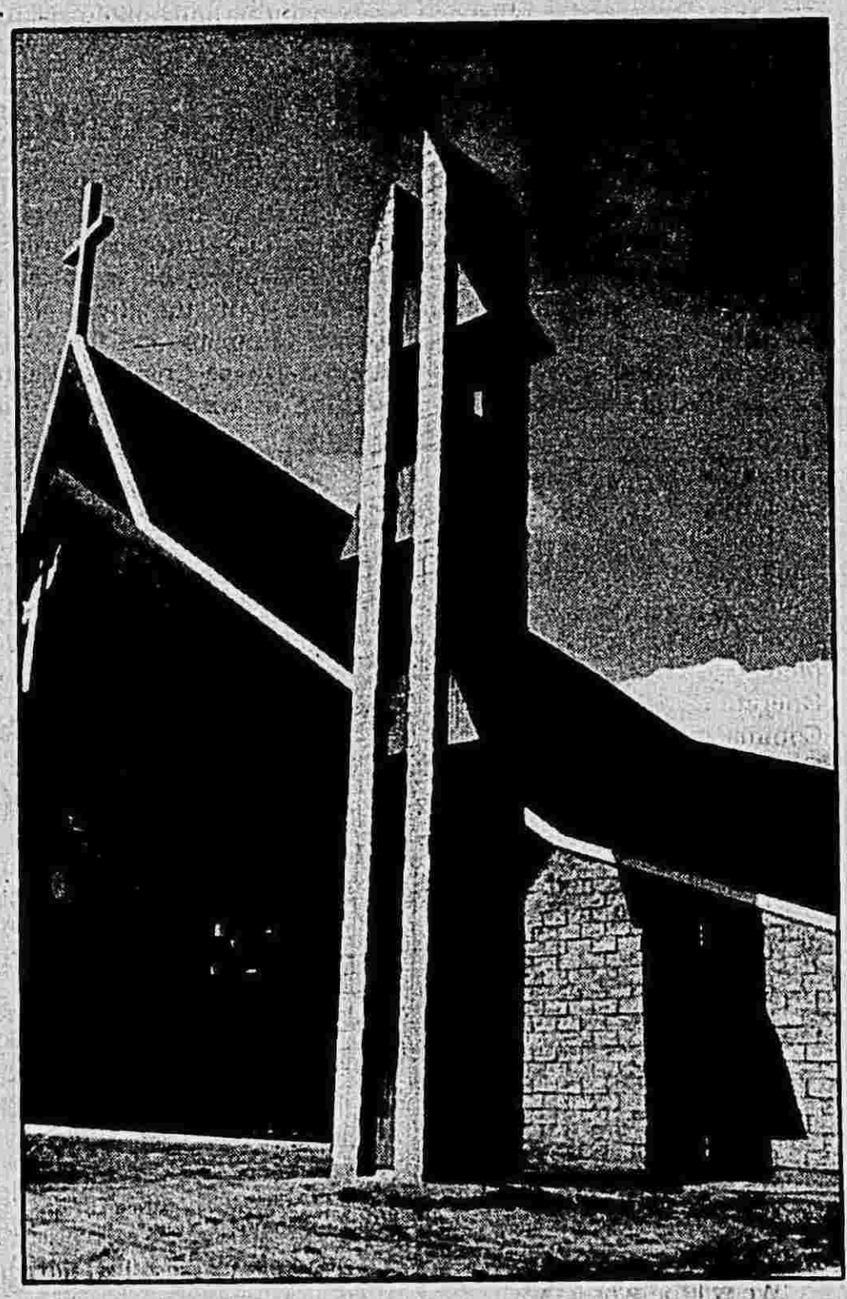

The bell with the higher pitch is inscribed in honor of San Geraldo. The bell with the medium tone is dedicated to San Patricio, and the bell with the lower pitch is in honor of San Marcos.

Some confusion took place, as the bells were shipped around to several different ports before they went to the right place. They arrived just the day before the dedication.

"The quality of the bells produced in this factory have such a clear sound," explained Meredith. She added that they are all hand-made, constructed the old-fashioned way.

The family should know. After the consecration, they traveled to Guatemala last month to visit and to see the bells.

"When they rang out (for the first time)," said Dr. Dam, the entire city went out and applauded."—BY TINA L. SWIECH

Children's activities set for Fine Arts Festival

A vast variety of children's activities turn the Elgin Fine Arts Festival into the perfect family outing for a late-summer weekend. The festival, scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 27 and Sunday, Aug. 28 in the downtown Elgin Civic Center Plaza, literally offers something for everyone, including pint-sized visitors.

There is a special area, just for kids, on the East Bank of the Fox River, with the children's entertainment stage across the bridge on Walton Island.

From 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, children will be invited to participate in Art and Crafts, a moon walk, mural painting and sand castle building. During this time the Elgin Public Museum will offer button making, nature painting and a nature scavenger hunt. The Children's Discover Museum of Elgin will provide face painting and bubble making.

Children, parents and grandparents will enjoy a wide variety of entertainment during the festival. On Saturday, Shanta will present "Stories and Songs of African People" at 11 a.m., followed by the Illustrated Theatre's Summer Celebration at 12:30 p.m. Captain Black will host a Treasure hunt at 2 p.m., with a puppet show by the Damen Avenue Puppeteers at 3:30 p.m.

Entertainment begins at noon on Sunday with Storyteller Donna Dettman's "Frogs and Other Princes." The Highland Dancers perform at 1 p.m., followed by "Scales and Tales" with Beth Bishop and her exotic animals. The entertainment wraps up with a program by the Rope Warrior called "Rope Jumping in a New Dimension" at 3 p.m.

The Elgin Fine Arts Festival offers the A.A.U.W. Art Showcase, the EOS Young Virtuosi Competition, Entertainment Tent, Artist Demonstrations, and a concert by the Elgin Symphony Orchestra over the course of the three-day event. All activities take place in the Civic Center plaza, with the exception of the ESO Concert, which will be presented free of charge at Elgin's Wing Park on Friday night. Food and beverage vendors will be located adjacent to the Entertainment Tent.

All activities are free and open to the public. For further information, call the Elgin Fine Arts Festival Hotline at (708) 931-5613.

Choir

"This is not a typical church choir. These are a lot of people who sang in high school swing choirs. We also combine choreography in our performances," Martin said.

The group performs on Sunday evenings. Martin said the group doesn't want to interfere with choir members' regular church services.

Many different denominations are represented in the choir. This makes the group unique in itself and Martin added he knew no one else in Lake and McHenry Counties who was doing anything like Tell the World.

The group is beginning to book for next year. For more information about the choir or to book them, call Martin at 526-8306.

Long Grove celebrates 'By-Gone Days'

Saturday, Aug. 27, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., visitors to Long Grove can experience a day down on the farm as it was years ago. The Lake County Farm Heritage Association will set up displays and hands-on demonstrations in Fountain Square, near the crossroads of the historic village. At 1 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 28, an old-fashioned country auction will take place on the lawn across the road from the Village Tavern. The weekend event is sponsored by the Long Grove Merchants Assn.

The Saturday program includes horse-drawn antique farm equipment; old tractors from the 1930s through the '50s; antique rope making demonstrations, with jump ropes made out of binder twine; threshing demonstrations; making and selling miniature straw bales; old-fashioned laundry equipment' an old corn mill; and a demonstration of butter making. From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. the Lake Weavers, with costumed spinners Carol Sorenson and Carol Jenkins, will demonstrate their craft; Springfield blacksmith Ken Engel, sponsored by Joan's Country Cupboard and the Covered Bridge Cafe will be working near those establishments; and woodcarver Irv Marion will greet visitors. The Farmside Country Store will have a working beehive on display, and will show how to use local honey in recipes. Red Oaks will have a demonstration of dried flower arranging on the porch from 1 to 4 p.m.

The 1 p.m. Sunday country auction will be conducted by the Village Tavern's Chip Ullrich, well known for his auctions for Chicago area charities. The auction will feature many items donated by Long Grove Merchants. Free musical entertainment will kick off the afternoon, which will benefit the Make a Wish Foundation. For more information call 634-0888.

Dancenter North welcomes new teacher

Dancenter North is proud to announce the arrival of Julie Cartier, a founding member of the Chi-Town Jazz Dance Company and Especially Tap Company. Cartier will be teaching jazz and tap to advanced students for the fall semester.

Originally from Wauwatosa, Wis., Cartier came to Chicago in 1978 to study at the Gus Giordano Dance Center. She went on to perform with the River North Dance Company and the Lynda Martha Dance Company before settling in with Especially Tap under the direction of Bruce Stegman. Throughout her career, Cartier has been involved in musical theatre and industrial productions. She has taught master classes and workshops all over the U.S. and Germany before making her home in Glenview.

International Student Exchange of Iowa
A nonprofit organization founded in 1969, in Waterloo,Iowa is very actively looking for more ILLINOIS families to host Foreign Teenage Ambassadors for the 1994-95 school year:

- ☐ Families are eligible to host in all walks of life, with young children, teenagers or grown-up children, or without children.
- ☐ Interested families provide room & board, love & care and a stable warm environment; select teenage boy or girl and country of origin (Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Germany, Hungary, Mexico, Russia, Spain, Ukraine).
- ☐ Students speak sufficient English, will attend local high school, are fully insured, have their own pocket money.
- ☐ True rewarding intercultural educational family sharing experience. 24-hour support system.
- ☐ Help ISE of IOWA celebrate 25 years of activity building thousands of international lifelong friendships...

Loving, Sharing, Giving, Caring, this is what Illinois families can do when hosting an ISE of IOWA student... Think of the rewards... Think of the student's joy when receiving your first letter of Welcome, meeting you at the airport and finally entering your home, your family, your life as a full-time member, new son or daughter, brother or sister...

The Truth About Airfare Wars

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

You may remember the "fare war" of June of 1992 when the lowest price on a ticket to almost anywhere really was cut in half.

Well, that was the last real fare war. What we have today are airfare sales.

These sales do offer some good deals. It's the, shall we say "creative" way in which the airlines are allowed to advertise, which can be very misleading.

Last week TWA promoted a "Two-for-One" sale (which all other airlines matched). The lowest round trip fare on TWA to Orlando was about $232.00 per person. Seems logical that on a "Two-for-One" sale two people should fly for $232.00. That's not the way the airlines figure prices.

You see airlines have six or more fares to choose from on every flight, each with different rules, restrictions and costs. In the above case TWA picked a fare with a round trip cost of $436.00 on which to base their two-for-one sale. To that you still have to add $12.00 airport tax on the free ticket bringing the total to $448.00 for two people.

Compare that to purchasing two regular excursion fare tickets at $232.00 each and you've got a total savings of only $16.00 for the two tickets, not $232.00.

This week most airlines are promoting a so called 1/2 price sale (started by Continental).

Again a higher fare was chosen to compute the reduced price.

Since we already know the pre-sale lowest price to Orlando was about $232.00, then the sale fare should be around $112.50. Instead we're looking at an airfare sale price of around $165.00.

That's a substantial savings of $67.00, but not 1/2 price.

Keep in mind that there are many rules (flying on certain days of the week, blackout dates, a Saturday night stay, etc.), that affect prices.

The main reason why you may not get that low price, though, is very few seats on each flight are actually sold at the lowest fare. In fact, an airline only has to sell one seat on a flight at the sale price to be able to advertise it.

Again, there are some great airfares out there. Just don't be misled by airline advertising.

Entrants sought for gumbo cook-off

Anyone whoever's dreamed of having a world-famous chef taste their culinary creations should enter the Chef Cuisine Gumbo Cook-Off. The grand winners of that cooking contest will be chosen by none other than Chef Paul Prudhomme, the Cajun Chef.

Sponsored by the 14th Annual Chef Cuisine Benefit of the Victory Hospital Foundation, the cook-off will award winners in two categories—professional chefs and amateur chefs. The initial judging will be by the Club Chefs of America. Five professional chef finalists and eight amateur chef finalists will be chosen. They will each receive two free tickets to the 14th Annual Chef Cuisine Benefit (a $50 value).

The final judging will take place at the benefit on Sunday, Sept. 18 at Midlane Country Club, 14565 Yorkhouse Rd., Wadsworth. Chef Prudhomme will choose one grand winner from each category. Each winner will be awarded a framed Gumbo Chef certificate and a Gumbo Cook-Off trophy.

There is a $15 entry fee for this competition. The deadline for entering is Monday, Aug. 29.

To receive an entry black and more information, call Laurie Stone, Victory Development Dept. at 360-3000, ext. 5665, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Bowen Park Theatre Company announces season

The Bowen Park Threatre Company proudly announces its ninth season. The three-play subscription series will include Anthony Shaffer's mystery "Sleuth," Athol Fugard's powerful drama "Boesman and Lena," and Alan Ayckbourn's comedy "How the Other Half Loves." The season runs from September through June and tickets are now selling at the Jack Benny Center for the Arts in Waukegan's Bowen Park just off N. Sheridan Rd.

Individual ticket prices are $12 for adults and $10 for full-time students, senior citizens and military personnel. Season tickets are substantially discounted at $30 for adults and $24 for students, seniors and military. The season package may be purchased in conjunction with the Bowen Park Opera season, which enhances the savings. The Bowen Park Opera productions will include Engelbert Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel" and Bedrich Smetana's "The Bartered Bride."

The Bowen Park Theatre and Opera Companies are fully professional, non-union companies. The subscription series for the theatre company will feature three different directors, each vying for the position of artistic director.

For more information, call the Jack Benny Center for the Arts at 360-4741.

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

You're only as old as your birth certificate

I might as well confess—by the time this week's column is published, I will be 40. Forty. Forty. Forty. I have to keep saying it over and over again because I can't quite believe it.

Mentally, I've been attempting to prepare for this birthday from the time I turned 39. Every so often, I'd practice saying, "I'm 40." I'd roll it around on my tongue every so often, but each time I did I had this urge to lie and say "I'm 39." Or "I'm 35." Or anything but 40.

I'm hoping to get through the actual day without any of the usual humiliating 40th birthday hoopla. Like signs in front of my house that start with, "Lordy, Lordy....." Please spare me. There must be another word in the English language that rhymes with 40. And I've already put in for a vacation day from work so that I won't have to walk to my desk only to find black crepe paper, black balloons and bats strung all over, or a lovely gift wrapped jar of wrinkle cream on my chair. Save your money—I don't have wrinkles, just lines of experience.

In order to keep myself from being depressed by this particular birthday, I have tried to find something good about it. I thought and thought and thought. Hmmm (that's the thinking sound). Something good about being 40. Hmmm. Hmmm. (Wait—I'm still thinking.) Okay! I've got it. Since I'm 40, I guess that makes me wise. I'll make a list of all the things I've learned now that I'm wise (not old—just wise). Be sure to have your teenagers read the list so that they can become wise at an earlier age (with their mind, not just their mouth):

1. Your parents really aren't stupid.

2. The key to a happy marriage is making your husband watch the movie "Fatal Attraction".

3. Money can't buy happiness—just politicians.

4. Santa Claus lives in Lake Forest.

5. Never give your teenage son $20 and expect him to bring you the change.

6. Elvis is dead.

7. Someday, you will be as old as your parents (just not at the same time).

8. You're only as old as your birth certificate.

There. Look at all the things I've learned now that I'm 40. Whew! All that knowledge makes me tired. Actually, that rocking chair over there looks pretty good. There. All comfy. Except now my shoulder hurts.

Okay—who took the Ben Gay and forgot to put it back?!?

Good Food

Taste of Austria with Tiroler Roulade

CLAUDIA M. LENART
Regional Editor

The Black Forest Chalet, 8840 N. Waukegan Rd. in Morton Grove is celebrating Austria through Aug. 28. Chef Schaidreiter along with the Innsbruck Trio will provide the food, music and hospitality of Innsbruck, Austria. To experience the true regional cuisine of Tyrol, Chef Schaidreiter has created an authentic Austrian menu. One of the selections is the following:

Tiroler Roulade

4 thin slices of inside round of beef (center cut)
1 medium sliced onion
1 medium dill pickle cut in 4 pieces
4 pieces of bacon
1 small carrot cut in equal slices raw sauerkraut
1 tablespoonof mustard salt to taste
pepper to taste

Combine raw sauerkraut and 1/2 of the sliced onion and saute while mixing in the tablespoon of mustard. Pound out meat and season with salt and pepper. Place the bacon, carrots and pickles on top of he meat and cover with sauerkraut mixture. Roll the meat tightly and seal the ends. Add some water and place in the oven on medium heat until meat is tender. Makes four servings.

At K.H. Kim's Tae Kwon Do in Libertyville, students learn more than just Tae Kwon Do, T'ai Chi, Hapkido and Hatha Yoga, they can gain self-discipline and improved mental and physical wellness.

"Tae Kwon Do is more than just learning how to kick and punch and break boards," siad David Hatch, chief instructor at K.H. Kim's. "it is a complete self-defense system. Tae Kwon Do is a way of life. I'ts a way of training the mind and body so that you can be the best you possible can."

The study of martial arts, particularly Tae Kwon Do, can improve nearly every aspect of one's life.

"We see regular improvements in school grades, lessened career-related stress and better physical development," said Hatch.

"Martial arts, as they are taught generally in the West, are taught from a 'health club' type of attitude, sort of an 'occasional' type of attitude," Hatch said. "At K.H. Kim's, the instruction is focused on the mental benefits as well as the physical learning of martial art movements. We teach the "art" at K.H. Kim's."

K.H. Kim offers Tae Kwon Do classes for students of all ages, beginning at age five. Classes are also available in Hatha Yoga, Tai Chi and Hapkido.

For more information about class times or the championships, call 918-9322, or visit K.H. Kim's at 1175 W. Park Ave. (Route 176 and Butterfield Rd.), in Libertyville.

Ford has great presence in facing 'Danger'

For those of you who loved Alex Balwin's Jack Ryan in"Red October," and appreciated Harrison Ford's very different interpretation of Tom Clancy's agent of all agents, in "Patriot Games," the newest Ryan film adventure, "Clear and Present Danger," is a must.

It's full of all the usual Ryanish intrigue, this time centered on America's war against drugs.

Ryan leaves his analytical job with the CIA to become deputy director of intelligence, when asked by James Earl Jones, who plays the ailing admiral holding that position.

The title "Clear and Present Danger" comes from the American law that states that U. S. military power will not be committed unless a "clear and present danger to the national security" of the country exists.

Ford soon beomes cognizant that our war against drugs is not succeeding and one of the reasons is because of a friend of the president's has a Columbian connection. The White House incumbent is played by Donald Moffat.

There is a big mixup (how unusual in politics) when other presidential aids privately contract espionage expert Willem Dafoe to make the big military hit against Columbian drug lords without Ford's knowledge.

Harrison Ford

The whole plot is reminiscent of President Reagan, a certain Virginia senatorial candidate, and the contra rebels in South America.

As in "Patriot Games," Ford's Ryan must place and use his patriotic efforts in the best interest of humanity, politics, etc. be damned!

The excitement flows realistically and smoothly for the first two-thirds of the film, then Ford seems to surpass good sense and reason and head for the Columbian jungles after the big drug kahunas.

But this shouldn't surprise any red-blooded Clancy fan. Didn't Ryan go after a saboteur on a sinking Russian nuclear sub in "October," and wasn't the conclusion of "Games," with Ford dressed in a Brooks Bros. suit, racing a boat in a storm after the evil ones, a little way out?

Ann Archer continues her role as Ryan's wife, Jones continues his Admiral's role from "October," and that endearing child, Thora Birch, plays Ryan's daughter again. All of these boding well for the picture's success.

This PG-13 Clancy-Ford saga doesn't rate the five stars that "Patriot Games," and "Red October" did, and maybe that's merely due to this reviewer's overexposure to this summer's action pix influx.

It does get a 3.5 out of five-star-rating, well-worth the admission price.—by GLORIA DAVIS

Critic's Choice

'Secret Garden' comes up a little short

"The Secret Garden," a musical by Lucy Simon from a book and lyrics by Marsha Norman, has taken root at the Pegasus Players' O'Rourke Center for the Arts, at Chicago's Truman College.

All the essentials in the recreation of the children's story by Frances Hodgson Burnett are in place, under the direction of Victoria Bussert, yet this production comes up short.

Opening night, the production was plagued by a fussy sound system that rendered indecipherable much of the output from the many fine singers in the 19-member cast.

And the wobbly "brick wall" set didn't inspire confidence. Jeremy Webb, as the feisty Dickon, had to hang on for dear life while performing "Winter's on the Wing."

Despite occasional bursts of inspiration, "The Secret Garden" limps from one dreary scene to the next as orphaned young Mary Lennox (played by talented Rebecca Stevens) unravels the secrets of the estate of her sad Uncle Archibald Craven (Ted Anderson).

Ted Anderson and Carolyn Stevens in "The Secret Garden."

Many "ghosts" inhabit this musical, the most appealing of whom is Lily, Craven's late lamented wife (played by Carolyn Stevens, Rebecca's real-life mother).

"The Secret Garden" will run though Aug. 28. Ticket information is available at (312)271-2638.

If they get some of the bugs out, "The Secret Garden" could really start to blossom.—by TOM WITOM

Bright Horizons hosts unusual trip

Bright Horizons, a not-for-profit resource and learning center in Mundelein, is hosting a special trip to the island of Malta this fall.

"We are so excited about this," says Director Patty Pipia. "We are going to do things that your average tourist never gets to do."

The program includes such features as lunch as guests in the home of a local family and exclusive visits to some of the island's 6,000 year old temple sites.

"Our original dream is to be at the temple of Mnajdra at dawn on the Equinox date of Sept. 23," says Pipia. "The sun rises over the sea in exact relation to the temple positioning on that day, pretty much the same way that it has since ancient times. We really would like to tie that to the Bright Horizons concept of new beginnings and spiritual growth."

Pipia believes that the tiny island, located about 80 miles south of Sicily, has been a spiritual center since earliest times. Besides megolithic temples that predate the Egyptian pyramids, Malta today is home to 365 churches.

"The Maltese people have been known for their generosity and warmth since St. Paul wrote about his visit in 60 A.D. in the Bible. There's also so much history there," says Pipia.

The tour leaves from Chicago via Swissair Sept. 21 to 30 and is open to interested people of all faiths. Details are in a free brochure available from Bright Horizons, 453 N. Lake St., Mundelein, IL 60060; phone 949-4446.

Where To Eat Out

Feature of the Week

Sammie's offers friendly service & fantastic food

Since 1972, Sammie's has been offering their customers delicious food. What has become a family tradition that started in Chicago by brothers Sam and Joe Guinta has expanded into Grayslake and Round Lake Beach. And Sammie's also has a new location in Round Beach, which is owned and operated by Dave Keith. Although Dave is not a family member, he's certainly treated like one.

Sammie's takes pride in the quality of the food they serve and definitely don't take fast food for granted. It might be fast, but you always know it's going to be delicious. Some of the items on the menu include Italian Beef, Italian Sausage, meatball, steak, and either fried or grilled chicken sandwiches. Sammie's also offers every kind of hot dog from Chicago style to Jumbo Polish, and of course, their famous Samburgers. Sammie's in Fox Lake features pizza while gyros are a popular item at the Round Lake location.

Sammie's also is health-conscious and offers a "lite" menu featuring grilled chicken breast and turkey sandwiches, garden salad, and grilled chicken salad. Also on hand are the traditional side items like french fries and onion rings, among others, and a full line of beverages to choose from.

If your taste buds need a treat, visit Sammie's, located at 799 Belvidere Road in Grayslake, 303 Rollins Rd. in Round Lake Beach, or 38 W. Grand (inside Yacht-Seas Bar) in Fox Lake.

ANSWERS

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A touchy friend may need handling with kid gloves. You may be receiving a commission or bonus soon. Consult with advisers about the best way to invest newly acquired funds. Weekend travel will lead to new friendships.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Partners are loving and supportive but a disappointment could arise in connection with a friendship. A breakthrough about a business concern comes through later in the week. You may receive financial assistance from a relative.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Even though you may have to deal with some sensitive egos, you will still make important business strides this week. Later on, though, it's best to follow a partner's lead. Use your charm to negotiate agreements with family members.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You'll take the bull by the horns and what was a worry will turn into a business triumph. You'll know just how to cope with a partner's moods to insure good times. An assignment comes that will be truly enjoyable for you and utilize your talents.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A loved one needs extra reassurances now. Take some time out for yourself in order to relax and unwind. Certain business concerns can wait for now. You'll make better decisions if you just step back a bit and gain perspective.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A co-worker may be out of sorts. However, on the home front, you'll quickly find a solution to a domestic concern. Someone close to you needs a favor but examine this before readily agreeing. It could be more than you bargained for.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) It's important to find the proper balance between work and play this week. A problem won't seem so difficult after you take a break. You may have been pushing yourself too hard.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) There's no sense in spending money on an entertainment that you probably won't enjoy, even though a friend is pushing hard for your participation. Home-based activities are your best bet for happy times.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You may be in the doldrums for a while, but the latter part of the week brings a surge of energy and renewed self-confidence. You may face extra duties in connection with family. Your charm works to your advantage this week.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A solution is finally found for a problem that had you perplexed. It's a wonderful week for making important phone calls and winning others over to your point of view. Take advantage of social invitations this weekend. However, watch your spending.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Reading between the lines gives you the information you need to make your next business move. Concern about a money matter needn't keep you awake nights. This weekend, visit with some friends you've been neglecting.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Although it's not a good time for business confrontations, you will still make valuable progress on the job this week. Be sure to follow through on this. Couples will find time for each other now. Inwardly, you're at peace.

Take a fresh look at vinyl siding

The White House will ways be white, but it's in a shrinking minority. The safe, predictable "one-shade-fits-all" white exterior siding chosen by Americans eight out of 10 times just a decade ago, is selected today less than half the time.

Homeowners are rediscovering the power of color to give their homes a uniquely personal stamp, inside and out. And increasingly, they're turning to today's vinyl siding to show their true colors on the outside.

Nothing shapes perception like color. Scientists estimate that up to 60 percent of our first response to any object is based on its color. Color affects how people see your home—how big or small it looks, how near or far from the street it appears. And your home's color affects how other people see you—powerfully projecting your own individual personality.

Until recently, though, homeowners wanting wide choices in colors had just one choice in finish—paint. But today's vinyl siding is expanding those choices with a broader palette of colors, trims and finishes than ever before, from delicate pastels to deep, dark hues.

Newer premium sidings even offer the subtle color variations, texture and grain of stained cedar siding or natural cedar shakes.

Meeting the growing demand for more color choices takes heavy doses of both science and art.. Combining pigment and plastic—especially in darker shades—is where the science comes in, making darker colors look better and last longer.

Exterior color choices must also weather changing fashions and tastes—which is where the art comes in.

Applying the art of consumer research to help industries—from apparel to graphic arts to automobiles to building products—spot color trends is the job of such organizations as the 1,400-member Color Marketing Group.

What are today's hot colors for homes? The word from CMG research is "natural." Reflecting greater environmental consciousness, greens and earth tones are increasingly popular. Regional colors—like peach and cream in the Southeast and tans in the Southwest—are also gaining, while grays and blues remain perennial favorites.

But trendy colors that may look great on a dress or even a car can be too loud on something as big as a house. So the CMG also translates color selections into more subdued versions, called "let downs," that are more suitable for large or long-term applications like exterior paint and siding.

With vinyl's traditional advantages of durability, easy maintenance and affordability, today's vinyl siding offers a combination of fashionability and practicality that has more and more homeowners taking a second look—and making it their first choice.

Nurse assistant program begins

Registration is open for College of Lake County's seven-week Basic Nurse Assistant Training program beginning Aug. 22. Approved by the Illinois Dept. of Public Health, the program will prepare students for employment in long-term care facilities, including hospitals and nursing homes.

Classes will be offered from 8 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday at CLC's Grayslake campus, 19351 W. Washington St., and at Lakeshore Campus, 111 N. Genesee, Waukegan. An evening class will be offered from 5 to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday at the Grayslake campus. Clinical training will be provided at Lake County nursing homes. Applicants must speak English, have an eighth-grade reading level and pass a reading placement test. For registration information, call 223-6601, ext. 2340.

Victory Memorial Hospital

Victory Foundation gumbo cook-off

If you have ever dreamed of having a world-famous chef taste your culinary creations, enter the Chef Cuisine Gumbo Cook-Off. The grand winners of the cooking contest will be chosen by none other than Chef Paul Prudhomme, the Cajun Chef.

Sponsored by the 14th Annual Chef Cuisine Benefit of the Victory Hospital Foundation, the cook-off will award winners in two categories—professional chefs and amateur chefs. The initial judging will be by the Club Chefs of America. Five professional chef finalists and eight amateur chef finalists will be chosen. They will each receive two free tickets to the 14th Annual Chef Cuisine Benefit (a $50 value).

The final judging will take place at the benefit on Sunday, Sept. 18, at Midlane Country Club, 14565 Yorkhouse Rd., Wadsworth. Chef Prudhomme will choose one grand winner from each category. Each winner will be awarded a framed Gumbo Chef certificate and a Gumbo Cook-Off trophy.

There is a $15 entry fee for this competition. The deadline for entering is Monday, Aug. 29. To receive an entry blank and more information, call Laurie Stone, Victory Development Dept., at 360-3000, ext. 5665, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

EHS Good Shepherd Hospital recognized for quality

The 1994 Commitment to Quality Award, sponsored by The Healthcare Forum, was presented to EHS Health Care of Oak Brook, which owns five Chicago-area hospitals including EHS Good Shepherd Hospital, Barrington.

The award is the health care industry's most prestigious quality honor. EHS Health Care was recognized for its Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) efforts that draw upon the talents and input of employees and physicians to identify ways to improve patient outcomes and efficiently use resources. At EHS Health Care, CQI initiatives saved $38.5 million in 1993.

A total of 47 CQI projects were undertaken at EHS Good Shepherd Hospital in 1993 by critical care, facilities, food service, human resources, laboratory, management engineering, nursing, nursing administration, nursing education and research, The Outpatient Center, operating room, pediatrics, pre-admitting, pharmacy, psychiatric services and quality management departments.

The projects ranged from decreasing the length of stay for pediatric asthma patients and orthopedic patients to improving scheduling procedures for cardiology, radiology and ambulatory care patients and increasing cost savings in the laboratory.

During the first nine months of 1993, EHS Good Shepherd saved over $373,000 by implementing CQI in these types of daily processes.

"Winning the Commitment to Quality Award is a tribute to the teamwork throughout EHS," said Richard R. Risk, president and chief executive officer of EHS. "The commitment to quality starts with the board and spreads to every level of our entire organization, including our medical staffs.

"It's working together that has allowed us to build a culture of CQI."

Volunteers recognized

The following volunteers have received awards from EHS Good Shepherd Hospital for their donated services:

Volunteer from Algonquin: Eileen Lewand, 100 hours. Volunteers from Barrington: Carol Abrahamson, 3,500 hours; Diane Beverley, 100 hours; Cathryn DiMucci, 100 hours; Eileen Helden, 100 hours; Dorothy Hogg, 4,000 hours; Sandra Howard, 500 hours; Lidia Johnson, 7,500 hours.

Volunteers from Cary: Marjorie Beghin, 100 hours; Susan Brehmer, 100 hours; Meghan Garvin, 100 hours.

Volunteer from Kildeer: Tom Dekoj, 100 hours; from Lake Zurich: Margaret Rogers, 3,000 hours; and from Palatine: Lauren Bentivegna, 100 hours.

HEALTHWATCH Lakeland Newspapers

No bones about it: We need more calcium

Researchers from around the country are calling for new calcium consumption guidelines as a result of the flood of new studies pointing to calcium's bone-building benefits.

A panel of experts convened by the National Institutes of Health says most people need at least 25 percent more calcium than current Recommended Dietary Allowances suggest.

In simplest terms, that means drinking at least one more glass of ice cold milk every day.

An eight-ounce glass of milk has about 300 milligrams of calcium. NIH panelists say 11-to 24-year olds need between 1,200 and 1,500 milligrams of calcium daily to build stronger bones and reduce the risk of developing the bone-thinning disease osteoporosis. The current RDA is 1,200 milligrams of calcium for ages 11 to 24.

Many researchers suggest higher calcium consumption even before age 11.

"It's probably a good idea to increase calcium intake to 1,200 milligrams at age 8, if not sooner," said Dr. Steve Abrams of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Children's Nutrition Research Center at Baylor College of Medicine, Houston. Current RDAs call for 800 milligrams of calcium daily for children ages 1 to 10.

Abrams completed a study of 5-to 16-year old girls that "shows significant bone-forming activity much earlier than previously believed," he said. He found marked bone growth in the years just before and after the start of puberty.

Abrams was one of 35 researchers who testified in June before the NIH's 15-member panel of independent scientists and researchers.

"My findings indicate that the RDA's for calcium may not be adequate to reduce the risk of developing osteoporosis," he said. Other prominent osteoporosis researchers agree.

Dr. C. Conrad Johnston of Indiana University also sees a need to up the calcium RDAs. Johnston, who also testified before the NIH panel, headed the "twins study", which found that additional dietary calcium beyond the RDAs enhanced children's ability to build stronger, thicker bones. Johnston's study concentrated on children ages 6 to 14.

Recommended Dietary Allowances are the amounts of various nutrients experts believe most people need to maintain health. They're set by the National Research Council's Food and Nutrition Board. First published in 1943, the RDAs have been revised nine times to reflect new scientific knowledge.

The most recent revision, in 1989, showed increased calcium requirements for infants and 22- to 24-year olds. The latter recommendation acknowledged evidence that, although bones do not tend to grow longer after age 18, they do continue to grow thicker and stronger until about age 25. Newer research shows bone mass increasing even up to age 30.

The Food and Nutrition Board already has begun the long process of reviewing the RDAs, but the newest recommendations probably won't be available for at least two to three years. The NIH panel's conclusions are not binding on the Food and Nutrition Board, but the board's review will include the same scientific data used by the NIH panel.

The scientific literature on which the NIH's recommendations are based has been published in the last five years," said Dr. Joan McGowan of the National Institute of Arthritis and Musculoskeletal and Skin Diseases, which co-sponsored the conference. "The purpose of the consensus conference was to review current research findings and make these available to the public."

NIH panelists also say women over 65 and those 50 to 65 years old who do not take estrogen need 1,500 milligrams of calcium a day—almost double their current RDA. They recommend women ages 25 to 49 as well as postmenopausal women who take estrogen, get 1,000 milligrams of calcium daily. Current RDA for women over 24 years is 800 milligrams a day.

The panel also recommends increased calcium for men: 1,000 milligrams daily for ages 25 to 64, and 1,500 milligrams for men 65 and over. Current RDA for men 25 and over is 800 milligrams.

The NIH panel said calcium-rich foods such as dairy products and some vegetables are the best sources of the bone-building mineral. Dr. Robert P. Heaney, a Creighton University researcher who testified before the panel, concurred.

"It would be extremely hard to hit calcium targets without dairy products," Heaney said. "Milk and other dairy products are the most convenient, most nutritious and most economical calcium sources in the western diet. Low-fat varieties especially offer very good bargains in terms of calories."

Nutrition experts at Dairy Council of Wisconsin say consumers today have a wide choice of dairy products with varying fat levels to accommodate individual needs and lifestyles.

"Two to three servings daily of milk, cheese and yogurt are recommended as part of a balanced diet to meet the RDA for calcium," said Emerita N. Alcantara, Ph.D., a registered dietician and DCW's vice president of scientific and regulatory affairs. "The additional calcium these researchers are suggesting would be equivalent to at least one more serving of dairy products daily."

Dairy products provide about three-fourths of the calcium available in the American food supply. Dairy products also have other essential nutrients, including protein and riboflavin. Fortified milk also has vitamin D, which helps the body absorb calcium.

Garment encourages exams

A new line of women's apparel being distributed by Baxter Hospital Supply Co. called Dignity Wear, is now on the market to alleviate psychological barriers in the examination room and help make routine check ups more tolerable.

Modesty, fear and embarrassment keep millions of American women from making regular appointments for gynecological exams, mammograms and routine physicals each year. That's why Atlanta gastroenterologist Robert Cohen, M.D. invented the Dignity Wear line that includes Digni-Pap™, a new patented garment that covers the genitalia during routine pelvic exams, Pap tests, endometrial biopsies, dilatation and curettage (D&C), LEEP procedures, in-vitro fertilization and vaginal ultrasound; and Digni-Mamm® for procedures on the upper torso such as a mammography, needle biopsy or echocardiograms.

"Having timely examinations literally save lives," says Dr. Cohen. "But psychologists and psychiatrists have long argued that many women are so uncomfortable and embarrassed by the typical open-top and bottom gowns and sheets that expose their bodies that they often postpone or just don't have vital examinations and testing. That's one of the reasons we devised the Digni-Pap™."

The single-use garments are made from a soft, comfortable DuPont material with a barrier finish that repels liquids, and come individually wrapped for guaranteed hygiene.

The Digni-Pap™ is an idea whose time is long overdue, according to mental health professionals.

In support of the introduction of the Digni-Pap™, Dignity Wear also cites a national survey of 2,525 women age 18 and over commissioned last year by The Commonwealth Fund for its newly established Commission on Women's Health. In it, more than one-third of the respondents reported they did not have a Pap smear, a clinical breast exam, a pelvic exam or a complete physical exam within the last 12 months.

Women age 65 and over were particularly at risk, the study said, with at least half reporting that they did not have a Pap smear or a mammogram during the last year. More educated and affluent women appeared more sensitive to negative experiences encountered with their physicians, according to the survey results.

Dignity Wear Ltd. products are in wide use nationally in private physician's offices and more than 500 hospitals, diagnostic centers, HMOs, Veteran's Administration and military base hospitals. The products have received strong endorsements from major medical centers, medical schools, medical associations and other leaders in the medical field.

Cohen founded Dignity Wear in 1991 after undergoing a colonoscopy while wearing the traditional, open-back hospital gown. All the garments also are manufactured and sold in both adult and pediatric sizes, Cohen adds.

Festival of Trees chairmen set

Sue Keeley, Waukegan; Jan Knobbe, Beach Park; and Karen Skelton Lindenhurst, chairmen of the Third Annual "Festival of Trees," have announced that plans for the 1994 holiday benefit are underway. The 1994 festival is scheduled for Nov. 16 to 20 at Midlane Country Club, 14565 Yorkhouse Rd., Wadsworth. Proceeds will benefit the Cardiac Rehabilitation Program Expansion at Victory Memorial Hospital.

"Creating a successful community benefit like Lake County's Festival of Trees doesn't happen overnight. It takes a lot of planning and behind the scenes work," said Knobbe. "Our planning actually began at the end of last year's festival."

According to Keeley, last year's event required the assistance of over 300 community volunteers.

Assisting the chairmen organize the 1994 "Festival of Trees" is a core group of volunteers who are serving as area chairmen for specific tasks, such as organizing the bake shop and developing publicity. These chairmen include Verna Bellios, Libertyville; Betty Burns, Lindenhurst; Ina Campbell, Waukegan; Barbara Chervin, Waukegan; Gerrie Clennon, Skokie; Karen Diamond, Zion; Judith Dobnikar, Antioch; Barbara Donaldson, Zion; Kathy Dunk, Waukegan; Dave Gillaspie, Waukegan; Eleanor Jansen, Waukegan; Bill Jansen, Waukegan; Mary Kingsbury, Mundelein; Joan Legat, Waukegan; Nancy Merlock, Beach Park; Nancy Miller, Lake Forest; Carol Passalaqua, Vernon Hills; Mary Pergander, Grayslake; Barbara Richardson, Gurnee; Linda Schueneman, Waukegan; Judy Sipos, Beach Park; Sarah Snider, Lindenhurst; Pat Vasilius, Gurnee; and Sandra Welker, Waukegan.

To learn more about participating in this year's "Festival of Trees," call Victory Memorial Hospital's Development Department at 360-4246.

Self-defense seminar offered

Johnson

A free self defense seminar for adults, presented by police and women's self defense expert Harriet Johnson, will be offered at EHS Good Shepherd Hospital from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 24.

The program will be held in the Prairie, Lakeview and Meadow rooms of the hospital.

The seminar is part of EHS Good Shepherd's Campaign Against Violence series that focuses on violence issues that affect families, the elderly and the community.

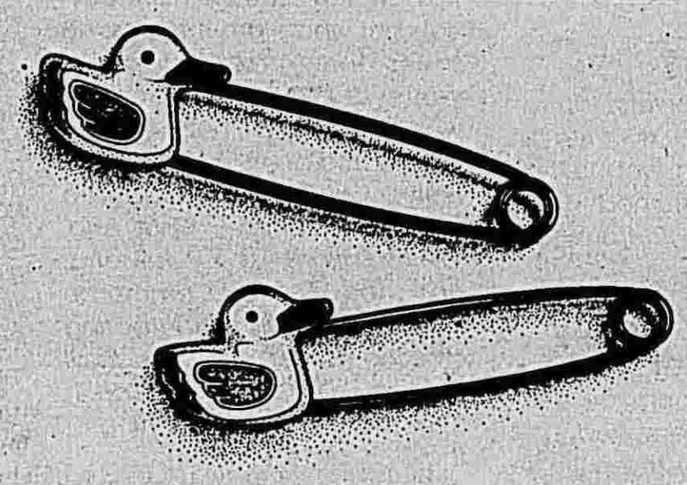

Johnson is a director of Crystal Lake Hapkido Assn., Inc., and has 22 years of martial arts experience. She holds a second degree black belt in Hapkido and a first degree black belt in Tae Kwon Do.

A certified police instructor, Johnson is a police trainer for North-East Multi Regional Training, a part-time police officer for Oakwood Hills and chief instructor for the Child Abduction Prevention Program. She has over 24 years of teaching experience in all aspects of self defense and the use of weapons.

Subjects to be covered in the program include: The basic principles of self defense, the body's natural weapons and vulnerable areas, fear and how to make it work for you, basic principles of survival and awareness, and suggested defensive devices that could be used against an attacker.

Seating for the self defense seminar is limited and advance registration is required. To sign up, call EHS Good Shepherd's HealthAdvisor line at 381-5282.

EHS Good Shepherd Hospital, which is part of EHS Health Care, is located north of Barrington on Hwy. 22, two miles west of Rte. 59.

At Victory, every baby is a pin-up.

In the New Family Center at Victory Memorial, babies and moms get the celebrity treatment. In fact, everyone in the family feels kind of special with all the attention they get.

Our entire staff works together to make the birthing experience as smooth and relaxed as possible. We're "old hands" at it. After all, we've been delivering Lake County babies for generations. And to help you along, we offer an abundance of pre-natal programs that provide comprehensive, practical knowledge about pregnancy, childbirth and pain management. We even have sibling classes for big brother and sis.

We're proud of the many positive comments we receive. One mom writes, "I want to commend your entire maternity staff on their superior performance. In all of my hospital stays, Victory was the most memorable...the environment was pleasant and very positive...the caring and supportive attitude of the staff made all the difference...best quality of medical care...thanks to your entire maternity staff."

It's all relative

Shame, shame, shame. You must have friends or relatives who smoke. Do they all stink? Are they all ignorant and hyper? There are so many other things in life to worry about than us smokers. If they do, then stay away from them. I'm sure they would be happy. You need God's blessings more than I do. This is signed 'Stinky.'

Good men

I wish to applaud my husband and father in law. My father is flying here from California to stay with my children during my six-week stay in the hospital. My husband has been with me through my entire fight with breast cancer. Thank you.

Saved a life

Thank you to the two men who picked up the little girl in front of the tower on Beachhaven. They brought her in and I called 911. She was a beautiful blonde girl with no shoes and she was lost. The Round Lake Police came right away and picked her up. Those two men saved her from possible harm.

Who is this man?

According to Fox Lake maps, Arthur Ave is supposed to meet Lawrence Ave. Somebody bought a pub, tore it down and put up a 'No turn around' sign. Who is he that he has this right? He is the same guy who tore a building half way down behind his house and never bothered to finish it. Children are playing on it and are going to get hurt, but Fox Lake is not messing with this guy. What is he doing? Is it costing him a lot of money?

One little cutie

Did any one see the Little Miss Lake County pageant? It may have looked organized but it was not. Some of the girls were left to change by themselves because all the dressers were around one little girl to tell her how cute she was. One girl went out with her bathing suit improperly fitted because no one paid attention to it. the Emcee announced that he knew coming out of the interviews who was going to win because this girl had such a high score and no one would catch up to her. This was not the right thing to say in front of the little girls.

Thank smokers

This is in response to the non smokers. If it were not for smokers paying such high taxes, we would all be paying higher property taxes. You name it, you would pay higher taxes for it. You should be thanking us, not condemning us.

Second class citizens

As a home owner of the Eagle Point subdivision area, I am very upset over the planned route for the Venetian Night. Are we second class citizens or no longer residents of Fox Lake? Why did they change the starting place? Is it because some have more money the issue?

Courteous police

I would like to congratulate the Libertyville mounted police. Whenever I am in Libertyville, they are always courteous and so good with the kids. It is wonderful that the village has those officers.

Still missing?

There were posters up in Antioch about a missing girl, Amy Miller. I am wondering I she was ever returned home safely. Is she okay? I am concerned.

One happy family

A trustee in Lake Zurich is concerned about subdivision signs and wants them removed. This would supposedly make those residents involved into residents of lake Zurich proper and not just residents of a subdivision. We have more problems than that. Cars race through to endanger our children and heavy trucks drive though as well. Every street is a through street. Get your priorities straight, trustees and mayor.

Sign to leave

This is to the person who thinks the 30-foot sign in Hainesville looks very nice. I think they should go ahead and move to Chicago.

Fox Lake attitude

I just talked to the Fox Lake Mayor. He did not want to talk to me as a citizen because I would not leave my name and address. He says he does nothing anonymously and he needs all that information. I have a few complaints. The police can not seem to do their job on McKinley Ave regarding enforcing regulations. One neighbor that just moved in has noise going on continually all hours of the day and night. The police come out and say it's no problem. He has a junk car on the street with a city sticker and license plate so that is no problem. They can do nothing about it. Mayor, as a new member of the community I am appalled at your actions and the actions of the police. I purchased a house in Fox Lake because I like the community. I am starting to get a bad taste in my mouth regarding my neighborhood, the police and the community because of this attitude.

Gates of promise

I witnessed an accident in Long Lake that would not have taken place if Metra would put up the crossing gates. They have enough time to do the train station and put in the coin slots but where are the crossing gates they promised us 10 years ago? This accident would not have happened if they would do their job.

Editorial note: According to a front page article in our Aug. 12 Fox Lake Press, IDOT, Metra, and the Illinois Commerce Commission will be erecting crossing gates, using federal monies, sometime after Oct. 1, 1994, which is the beginning of the 1995 fiscal year.

Manner rerun

I have one of those neighborhood houses where all the kids congregate. I often have my children's friends over to eat, keep them over night, and take them on outings. For the most part, the kids have behaved okay. I am very fed up with parents that rarely do the same for my children. Also, has any one else had children coming to parties without party gifts and staying past the ending time? I think it's time for a rerun on manners and etiquette.

'Un-entitled'

This is addressing the call 'Help ourselves' regarding the foreign aid our government pays to other countries. Foreign aid only accounts for one fifteenth of our national budget. Over half of our budget goes to entitlement programs. We need to stop supporting all the drug addicts and people who don't need the money because they go out and blow it on drugs. Only one in nine dollars in entitlement dollars goes to someone who actually needs it. That is what we need to clean up.

Local support

I'd like to mention something about donations. Most nonprofit organizations hit local businesses for donations. That is fine and we like supporting those kinds of people. These folks are the same folks who support the major chains who don't support local folks or our local groups. When you think that you want to support one of those major corporate stores, they don't put money back into our local community.. They give it back to their stockholders.

Editorial note: We are taking issue with your statements, but a few things should be known. Several of the major discount store chains automatically set aside a fixed amount from profits each year for local and national charities. Also, we do derive some local benefit from the majors. According the Illinois State Department of Revenue, for the first three months of this year, total tax receipts for Gurnee alone exceeded $4.7 million.

School or strike?

I was wondering if Round Lake Schools was going to start on time or is the school board going to force their staff into a strike?

God the judge

I am a former Protestant, and a current Catholic. I'm calling regarding 'Mass disapproval.' It does not matter what you wear to church if our heart is clean. It doesn't matter what you look like you were doing. God does not care what you look like. To 'Mass approval,' your are not God. Don't judge. Let him do that.

Resigned to leave

District 41 School Board member Michael Leahy resigned because he was upset with school district finances and how they were handled. I find it interesting that soon afterward he put his house up for sale. Mr. Leahy, if you resigned for this reason, then why are you moving out of the school district?

Mass fashion

This is in response to 'Mass disapproval.' You are getting pretty petty when you are worried about what people are wearing to church. I thought we were attending church to worship God, not for a fashion show.

After curfew

This is to the chief of police of Round Lake Park. What is going on with your men? The man who works at nights acts like the Gestapo. Can't anyone be driving late? He stopped me for driving 30 miles per hour, which is the speed limit. Then he made me do a few tests and let me go. What if someone has to go to the store to get milk and bread? Should he stay home instead?

Bear none

What happened to 'Life's a bear?' It was there, I just didn't see it? You tried running it but you found it had no following? There wasn't enough room for the really important news so you had to drop something so you bounced the bear. Or, is it none of the above? It is really good stuff. Let there be bear.

Editorial note: It must have been there and you didn't see it. It runs every week in our Lakelife section, and it does have a following.

Overthrown

I'm surprised to read that someone thought the superintendent of Gavin Schools was one of the lowest paid in the area. Not true. You ought to take a look at his contract. He is very well paid and has a great benefit package. The freedom of information act allows anyone to look at his contract. I also know many of the school board members. Two of the new members question what is going on in the school district. Isn't that why we elect them? Maybe the superintendent is upset because his dictatorship is over.

Come as you are

This is in response to 'Mass disapproval.' Who are you to judge what people wear? Not everyone can afford to wear nice clothes. Maybe those people you were referring to were wearing the best clothes they have. God did not make clothes, people did. We were naked before that. The point is that going to church is to worship God, not to be concerned about other people's clothes I attend Fox Lake Baptist church where everyone is loved and welcome no matter what they look like.

Help them all

I cannot believe the caller from last week was complaining last week about the U.S. helping those countries in need. How can you be so insensitive? How can you watch the news coverage and see people dying by the thousands daily and not be compelled to help them? Our government wastes a lot of money on frivolous things. But helping people in need is an excellent way to spend our tax money. If it were you over there, you would hope someone would help you too. I know there are people in need over here, but we are not as poor as Rwanda.

Padded pockets

The Lake Villa School Board is complaining about too many students coming from new subdivisions. So why sell water rights that will bring in more kids? This is just to pad the pockets of two board members. One is a realtor and the other sells home and car insurance. Wake up, community.

Training in progress

I'm trying to potty train my 2-year-old son, unsuccessfully so far. I was wondering if any parents out there had any helpful tips for me.

Garbage control

I'm upset with the trustee in Round Lake Heights who is upset with the garbage company. She may have a problem with the garbage company, but after 35 years of living in this village, I have never had a problem. They have always been courteous. If the village goes out for a contract based on the complaint of one trustee, I think that is a terrible way to do business. I will never vote for anybody who votes against Waste Management. I don't have a financial interest in that company. It is just one of the few things that work right in this community. It would be a shame if we change now.

Token vendettas

The person who claims that the Gavin Superintendent has one of the lowest salaries in the area needs to have their head examined. Where had this space cadet been for the past five years, on Mars? the previous superintendent held the position for 21 years before retiring with a yearly salary of $65,000. The present superintendent picked up the stick at that point and in the past five years has received more than 50 percent in increases. Add to this the benefits which include health and dental with no deductible, and a life insurance policy that is paid up. He had a generous retirement, travel reimbursement, four weeks vacation, paid sick and personal days, and paid tuition toward his doctoral degrees and he has quite a hefty package. How many people in this community have that kind of package?

I believe the school board is concerned about giving the children the best education possible. I am more concerned when people try to exaggerate the facts. Why is it every time someone brings up an opposition against the superintendent, it is noted as a personal vendetta against him? Are you sure he doesn't have a personal vendetta against them. Are you sure you don't have a vendetta. Remember, the board is elected to represent the community, not to become personal tokens of the superintendent.

Garbage call

I just read the Round Lake News and am appalled at the article on the open meetings act. I regularly attended the meetings in the past. What kind of lawyer do they have representing them? Isn't he supposed to tell them how to run it? About the article on the garbage contract, I have been with Waste Management for 35 years and have been very happy. Is this because the mayor's father owns a business? Let the village hear from the people what you want.

Electronics theft

This is for the lazy, ignorant losers who took a laser detector, the CDs, and the CD player from the cars in our driveway. Yes, those of us with lives do sometimes forget to lock our doors. Thanks for teaching our kids how unsafe the world is long before we hoped the would get taught that lesson. We worked for our things, why don't you try it? You are just lucky you didn't get caught. Get a job.

Revenge is sweet

One of my best friends just got jumped by a bunch of people. You know who you are. It is coming back to you.

Biased bill

This is about the tax relief in a bill that is to be submitted to the governor for the middle and low income seniors. The house approved an addition to the bill that allows inmates to prove racial bias. This would put an end to the death penalty. The Congressional Black Caucus is insisting that this remain part of the bill. We are all overtaxed.

Those who are looking for mortgage money often "shop around" for the best rates. That's fine with us because we feel our rates are competitive. We'd like you to call us and we'll show you it's true. We can sit down together and talk honestly about how much you can borrow, methods of financing and interest rates. We want to help you buy a home, so when you're ready, call us first.

Beauty of mighty oaks overwhelms hikers

Walking through the forest preserve last week, we came upon a beautiful oak grove and its beauty was overwhelming as we sat down and leaned on the mighty trunks of these trees. Looking up into the canopy of a tree, several stout branches seemed to be growing parallel to the ground. Several corky ridges emerged on the stems of this oak. This particular tree was about 40-feet high with an equal spread. The bark was deeply ridged with a grayish-brown color. This burr oak was truly a specimen and would be a great tree for a park situation.

The burr oak is difficult to transplant, however if done at an early age, (1 1/2 to 2-inch caliper), then protected against bores, can one day achieve its majestic silhouette for all to enjoy. Its rate of growth is slow and prefers full sun and will tolerate very different soil conditions. One of my favorite oaks, and a native tree in Lake County.

Some other great oaks that are easier to transplant than the burr oaks are: Quercus bicolor-swamp white oak. As the name indicates, found in the wild in low lying or swampy areas. Requires acid soil and is quite hardy for the Lake County growing area.

The Quercus imbricaria—shingle oak, like many other oaks doesn't have the lobes of an oak leaf and therefore is many times identified incorrectly. The leaves are alternate, simple, oblong or lanciolate, 2 1/2 to 6-inches long and 1 to 3-inches wide. The oak can achieve 50 to 60 feet in height with a spread as equal or more. The bark is grey-brown and the leaf color is reddish when unfolding in the spring, turning a lustrous dark green in the summer with russet-red colors in the fall. Like other oaks, the older leaves may persist through winter. Transplants easier than many other oaks and is used for lawn, street, park and golf course areas. The wood of shingle oak was used to make shingles; hence, the common name.(*)

Most oaks are best moved in the spring, however if they need to be planted in the fall, the later, the better.—by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect/owner of Mill Creek Nursery, Wadsworth.

Business Briefs

Fields buys Infiniti dealership

HIGHLAND PARK—M.E. Fields , Inc. has announced the purchase of its 10th automobile dealership. Six of those dealerships are on the north shore, including the newest location in Highland Park. The dealership, formerly known as Performance Infiniti at 2300 Skokie Valley Rd, will carry the Fields of Lake County nameplate. The other Fields Infiniti location in Lake County is in Glenview. At its various outlets in Illinois and Florida, the company carries lines from Infiniti, Saab, Cadillac, Jeep/Eagle, and BMW.

Realtor offers video to sellers

ANTIOCH—Century-21 Epifanio & Assoc. is using a new marketing strategy that can benefit sellers in the northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin areas. The company has joined with Lake Effect Films of Bristol, Wis. to produce a video tape called "Sell Your Home-Faster." The approach will be to follow the format of a home remodeling show. "Before" and "after" pictures of a typical house will indicate what sellers can do to make their houses easier to sell.

Small business LowDoc loans

CHICAGO—The U.S. Small Business Administration's (SBA) Chicago Dist. Office has announced the names of lenders approved to participate in the new LowDoc loan program, according to John L. Smith, Chicago Dist. Dir. The LowDoc program streamlines the SBA loan application process for guaranteed loans under $100,000. LowDoc relies heavily on the banker's experience and judgment of a borrower's credit history and character to expedite the loan process. The program was launched in Illinois in late June with 23 banks attending a training session. Currently, 200 banks are registered to utilize the LowDoc Program. To date, 67 loans have been approved totaling $3.5 million. Lenders still need the financial information typically found in loan applications to ensure repayment ability, but the diminished SBA paperwork requirements will greatly reduce the administrative burdens on lenders and borrowers. To apply for the program, Smith said, business applicants should first approach their own lender. If the lender is not participating in the program, they should call the SBA at 312-353-5481

Abbott donates to Rwanda

ABBOTT PARK—Abbott Laboratories health care products are being donated for relief efforts in Rwanda on an ongoing basis. Last week, the company contributed three semi-trailer truck loads of intravenous solutions, I.V. administration sets and Pedialyte, an oral electrolyte maintenance solution that restores fluid and minerals lost in diarrhea and vomiting in infants and children. Abbott contributed these products through MAP International, a worldwide relief organization based in Brunswick, Ga.

Pamper pet at home when you're on vacation

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Pet owners face a common dilemma when considering a vacation. The stickiest detail is not where to go, what hotel to stay in, or what sights to see.

The most difficult decision usually comes down to what one should do with the family pet. Hotels that accept pets are not prevalent. Family members may not live close enough to watch them and, with the growth in Lake County, people do not know their neighbors as well as they once did.

The decision pet owners many times face is to relegate their beloved animal to the pound. This is as emotional for the pet as it is for the owner. However, it does not have to be this way.

A new Millburn business, Pampered Pets Sitting Service, has joined the growing trend in helping pet owners keep their animals in the comforting environment of their own home. The primary mission of the company is to give pets individual attention while relieving them from the stress of adjusting to a foreign environment without their owner's presence.

"I worked one summer in a kennel. I saw how many animals did not receive that one-on-one attention." said Tammy Rasmussen, president of the company.

Her venture into business was an evolutionary process. Rasmussen says she has always loved animals and over the years began bringing pets that belonged to friends and acquaintances home when asked.

When the house began overflowing with cuddly critters, her husband, Larry, asked her to consider turning the tables by taking care of pets in their own homes. Rasmussen took the suggestion to heart and a new business was born.

When one considers Rasmussen's services, the first meeting is in the form of an interview. The session, which lasts about one hour, gives the owner and the pet a chance to become acquainted with her.

Rasmussen says the interview generally goes well, especially with the pet. When an owner goes to sign the contract for services, they notice it does not stop at taking care of the pet.

The contract has check boxes

Mulder to head First Chicago's Antioch branch

Jeff Mulder

The First National Bank of Chicago announced that Jeffrey B. Mulder, a three-year veteran of the First National Bank of Chicago, was named president of its branch at 425 Lake St., Antioch.

Mulder, who joined First Chicago in 1991 as a sales manager, succeeds Carl McWherter, who now heads the bank's Wilmette branch.

"Jeff has played a vital role in the success we have had in establishing our presence in Antioch," said Thomas Chana, president of First Chicago Community Banking Group division that includes the Antioch branch. "I am confident that growth and success will continue under his leadership."

"I am excited about the opportunity," said Mulder. "I look forward to continuing First Chicago's commitment to the community."

Mulder is active in the Antioch community, serving as chairperson of the facade committee of Community Action Now (CAN). He recently was appointed to the Antioch Economic Development Commission by Mayor Marilyn Shienflug.

A native of Antioch, Mulder graduated from Antioch High School and received his bachelor's degree from Western Illinois University. He also earned a Certified Financial Planner (CFP) certification from the College of Financial Planning in Denver.

First Chicago's Antioch branch is one of the more than 80 branches of the First National Bank of Chicago, which provides leading edge banking products and services to retail and business customers through the Chicago metropolitan area. The First National Bank of Chicago is the 10th largest bank in the country and a subsidiary of First Chicago Corp.

Country Club setting

WADSWORTH-Five single-family home designs are now on display at Brandess Pointe at Midlane, featuring designs which complement the resort-like setting of The Links at Midlane, a new golf course community in Wadsworth. Although the three model homes planned for the community will not be completed until fall, prospective home buyers can view the model homes by means of virtual reality video tours. A 50,000 square foot club house with a private club atmosphere offers formal and informal dining as well as banquet facilities and is the site for special events and celebrity entertainers. The community also features a 100 acre nature preserve. The sales center for Brandess Pointe at Midlane is located on Yorkhouse Road, one-half mile west of Delany Road. Call 623-5868 for more information.

Country Lane half sold

WADSWORTH—Sales have passed the 50 percent mark at Country Lane at Wadsworth Lake, 126 Victorian-style single-family homes near Wadsworth. Sixty-five homes have been purchased at Country Lane. Grand opening of six models occurred in May, 1993. Just west of the Midlane Country Club, Country Lane offers home buyers a two-tier price and size structure. When completed, the "Main Street" series will consist of 84 two- to four-bedroom homes featuring three home styles, ranging in size from 1,442 to 1,985 square feet, and in price from $154,900 to $189,900.

Land sales resume at Olde Grove

VERNON HILLS—Century Management and Development Co. has resumed sales of the final finished home sites at Olde Grove Farm in Vernon Hills after an interruption created by nearby highway construction. "We all but had to shut down because of the extensive roadwork on Rte. 83 and Westmoreland Drive. It was not only a major inconvenience to those 25 or 30 families who have already moved into their custom-built homes but a major obstruction for construction workers and even potential buyers," noted Irwin Berkley, chief executive officer of the Skokie-based development company. Berkley said he is confident that the remaining nine lots in the custom home complex just east of rustic Long Grove will move more quickly with the resumption of normal traffic in the vicinity. Those remaining lots, a total of 59 in the private enclave, are all finished and ready for development. They are priced from the low $60,000s to $124,000. Several lots have frontage on the community's 20-acre nature preserve and pond.

Cunningham Square opens

GURNEE-Newly opened Cunningham Square at Hunt Club in Gurnee has enjoyed brisk activity in the first month of pre-construction sales with nine homes sold. The community features 52 coach homes and townhome-style condominiums, with pre-construction prices ranging from $120,900 to $132,900. Cunningham Square at Hunt Club is being developed by Northbrook-based Brandess Homes, a company known and respected as a builder of luxury custom and semi-custom homes for more than 32 years. Cunningham Square at Hunt Club is located on Hunt Club Road, one-half mile north of Rte.120. Call 816-0543 for more information.

Improving your home with windows, doors

We all know that we only have one chance to make a first impression. The same applies to homes and their curb appeal. One of the most important facets of curb appeal besides landscaping is the attractiveness of the windows and doors. An impressive and unusual door or window arrangement can create an interest, setting a home apart from others in the neighborhood.

According to Rich Blemke, a sales representative for Morgan Door and Anderson Windows, who informed us recently in an interview of how the attitude regarding windows has changed over the past 20 years. "Previously, windows were strictly a functional item for a home.

Today, 'windowscaping' is as important to the architecture of a home as 'landscaping' is to the exterior of the home." The smallish, square windows of the '50s has been replaced by the Palladium window styles of the '90s.

The Palladium style is a half circle glass window constructed over another window, giving an elegance with a contemporary touch to both the interior and exterior of the home. Our guest for more open floor plans, and the use of more natural light assisted the popularity of this change in consumer tastes.

Mr. Lincoln Knight, a representative for Konsler Ltd. in Libertyville, informed us of the "roof window" which replaces what we previously know as "skylights." The former plastic bubble protruding from the roof is a thing of the past. These innovative windows on the roof allow for natural lighting in hard to light areas like bathrooms and are equipped with remote controls for real usability operating in both open and closed positions. There is hardly a reason for an older home to have a too dark area with the several new ideas that the window and glass industry has provided.

The most common problem is "seal failures" in patio sliding glass doors. Generally thermopaned with two panes of glass with dead airspace in between, a broken seal causes the door to cloud up and look dirty. Replacement is a necessity and makes the home look maintained and a prospective buyer much happier.

The other modernization of windows is the vinyl-clad construction. The windows are wood, covered in a vinyl material circumventing scraping and painting every few years.

Doors play an important part in the drama of a home. When the front door of a home has an interesting and different designed door or sidelights, the first impression is one of interest and appreciation.

"Sidelights" are those glass areas on either side of the door that allow for light and brightness in the foyer. New ideas here include eliminating the "plain" glass look and replacing it with a beveled, stained glass or "glue chip" look which allows for light, but diffuses the clarity of the glass for privacy. If you are considering updating your present older home prior to marketing it for sale, a good investment can always be new windows and doors. Six-panel pine or oak doors will add real value and elegance to a tract home, setting it apart from the several other similar models. Front doors are the first thing a buyer sees, so check out the pre-hung doors available.

A reasonable investment in updating and maintaining your home can reap major dollars when your home is in competition with others for the sign marked "SOLD."

Editor's note: Questions or comments may be directed to Terri Murphy, Box 6234, Libertyville, IL 60048.

Pets

for services like taking in the mail or watering the household plants. This also serves to improve security. Another security measure comes in the form of a solar switch which, when screwed into a lamp, turns on a light during the hours of darkness.

People are sometimes leery of the pet sitting service because of cost. A person making personal visits to the home must be expensive, they conclude.

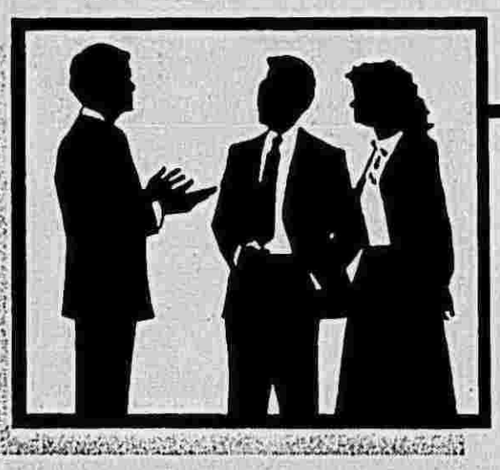

"I had one man call me because he was not comfortable with taking his dog to a kennel. He discovered the price for two visits per day was equal to what he would be paying for the kennel, so he went ahead and added a third visit." Rasmussen said.

People do not need to schedule a vacation to require pet sitting services. Rasmussen has a contract with one woman to visit her dog daily because of the length of the owner's commute. Senior citizens who cannot exercise their animals have also used her services.

To let the owner know how things went in their absence, Rasmussen keeps a daily log of activities. She even has an emergency pager so owners can contact her after hours.

The animals respond well to love and attention, and Rasmussen considers herself somewhat of a fanatic when it comes to loving animals.

The business phone number, 356-LOVE, even implies the care Rasmussen delivers. She can be reached 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the week, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday.

MARIO E. GILDONE;
JOHN DeWITT and ELEANOR DeWITT; JOSEPH CLEMENT and JOANN CLEMENT, also known as JOANN WOODRUFF; and IRENE SCHLAEGEL,
Defendants.

Upon reading the Motion for Publication of Summons and the Affidavit of Due Diligence filed herein, and good cause appearing therefor, the Court finds:

1. That Defendant, JOSEPH F. CLEMENT, cannot be found within the State of Nevada;

2. That the Summons and Complaint herein cannot be served upon Defendant, JOSEPH F. CLEMENT, in person;

3. That the last known address of Defendant, JOSEPH F. CLEMENT, is 17340 Woodland Dr., Grayslake, Illinois 60030.

4. That it appears from the Complaint on file herein that a cause of action exists in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendant and that said Defendant is a necessary and proper party herein;

5. That the Grayslake Times, a newspaper published in the City of Grayslake, State of Illinois, is circulated in the City of Grayslake, and is the newspaper most likely to give notice to Defendant of the pendency of this action;

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Summons in this suit be served on Defendant, JOSEPH F. CLEMENT, by depositing a copy of the Summons and Complaint in the United States mail, directed to said Defendant at his last known address, 17340 Woodland Dr., Grayslake, Illinois 60030 and by publication thereof in the above-named newspaper, and that said publication be made for a period of four weeks, and at least once a week during said time.

POWERFUL PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT. Most Holy Spirit, You Who solve all problems, Who lights my path so I can reach my goals, You Who give me the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and You Who are with me. I, in this dialogue, want to thank You for all You have given me and to confirm that I never want to be seperated from You. I want to be with You in Eternity. Thank You for Your mercy towards me and mine. Persons must say this prayer 3-times for 3-consecutive days. Your favor will be granted even though it may appear difficult. Publish this prayer immediately after your favor is granted without mentioning the favor. H.S.

ADOPTION- A FAMILY DREAM. One of the reasons there is a little extra sunshine, laughter and happiness in the world is because of children. Because we are childless, there haven't been too many sunny days. We know you can brighten our world with a child that will be guided with love and tenderness, and guaranteed security. Medical/Legal/Counseling/Court approved living expenses paid. Confidential. Contact our attorney at (708)957-6835.

How To Survive The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: Last month my employer decided to relocate his corporation to another state, leaving me and all but three co-workers without jobs. I have registered with my local unemployment office and the slight income helps. I have been on an avid search and am finding it difficult to find a job right now and so I have been considering picking up some temporary work in the meantime. I figure this will allow me the flexibility to interview for jobs while earning some money. My question is, will this effect my unemployment benefits if I do? B.H. - Fox Lake

A: Dear B.H. You will want to check with the unemployment representative you registered with. Typically the state would love to see you get a new job whether it be permanent or temporary. For your general knowledge, if you take on a temporary assignment you are able to earn a percentage of your weekly benefits without it affecting your status. In some cases once an assignment would be finished, you may be required to re-file for benefits. Work is work, and the more exposure in the work place plus the possibility of a temporary assignment leading to something permanent, certainly does outweigh the slight inconvenience of re-filing.

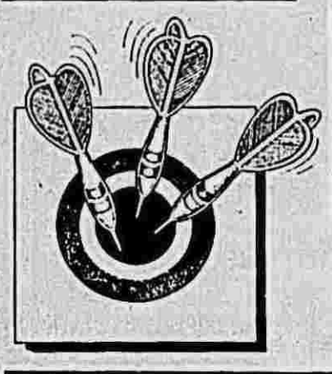

Q: Dear...Search: Almost one year ago today I took a three-month medical leave of absence from my company for which I have been employed six years. During my absence my boss left the company and was replaced by someone internal. I came back to find I now report to someone who I never really got along with. I should be up for a review soon and find it difficult to believe that I will be looked upon objectively and therefore feel that perhaps I should go to our personnel department and request my review be done by someone else. Do you agree? F.R. - Libertyville.

A: Dear F.R. Slow down!!! First of all, you do not mention whether or not you have been approached about this review. It sounds as though you are assuming quite a bit and expecting the worst! Personally speaking, I would let nature take it's course and see what happens. Your feelings may or may not be justified. However, going over your boss' head and straight to the personnel department at this time would be a big mistake. Trust me!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

VINCENT

The Vincent is a duplex arrangement that is attractive and efficient. Many people are taking advantage of the investment possibilities and other benefits offered by having a duplex to use both as a residence and a rental property. A number of up-to-date features make it desirable for renters as well as the owner-resident.

Each includes a one-car garage wide enough to accommodate a washer and dryer. Placement of the garages in front of the units allows them to serve an additional function -- that of a sound buffer.

Ramps at the front and back entrances make both of these units wheelchair-accessible. The lower floor plan creates an easy traffic flow by the placement of a contral eating bar. This allows meals to be served casually here. Sliding glass doors at the far end brighten the space and allow access to a small patio where friends and family can gather for a barbecue, weather permitting. More formal occasions dictate the use of the adjacent dining room. A small bedroom, tucked in the corner of the first floor, can be put to use as a den, sewing room, library, etc. A full bath completes the lower floor plan.

The stairway to the second floor leads to the sleeping area. This house design is ideal for couples with small children. The landing is open to below, allowing Mom and Dad to keep an eye on the goings-on. The modest master suite is situated at the front of the house, with the other two bedrooms close by. A full bath and extra storage space concludes the second floor.

For a study kit of the VINCENT (402-07), send $9.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring Landmark's most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

Knights' defense to show way as '94 season begins

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

It is easy to understand why Al Clark is enthused about the upcoming semi-pro football season.

For starters, look at the turnout, with 45 players ready to do battle Saturday and Sundays through October in the Chicagoland Football League.

Then there is the defense.

"Our whole defense is intact from last year. We will run a 4-3 or 4-4 as a disguise. Against the Thunder in our exhibition game, we only allowed them two completed passes," Clark said.

Linebacker Dan Halverson, a Carmel graduate, moved from outside to inside linebacker. Cornerback Craig Freeman keys the secondary.

"The biggest change this year may be on offense. You won't be able to recognize our offense from last year," Clark said.

Sam Toia is the offensive coordinator and quarterback.

"He is so experienced in the league. He wants to pass all the time, but I have to put a choke hold on that," Clark said.

With that ironed out, the Knights went out and outscored the Thunder 26-13 in that exhibition opener.

The Knights promise a well-balanced attack for the 7 p.m. Aug. 20 season opener against the Chargers. The game will be played at Hansen Stadium in Chicago.

Nate Body, a 5-foot, 9-inch 190 pounder is at one running back. He scored a touchdown on a run and added a two-point conversion against the Thunder.

Also in the backfield, who ran for a TD against the Thunder, is Brent Stackhouse of Waukegan.

Arlee Williams of Waukegan is at one wideout. Ray Jones, a Waukegan police officer, is at another receiving position. Both caught touchdown passes in the Thunder contest.

"Our line is inexperienced but proved themselves against Thunder. We are very quick. You don't try and outmuscle a 300-pound lineman," Clark said.

Clark is running the whole show this year, the team's fourth season.

"Our defense should be second to none," he said. "It is a game of chess. You hope to prepare them properly, then it is up to them."

The Knights practice at Beavier Park at McCall School in Waukegan Monday and Thursday nights, on Saturday mornings on off weeks.

Clark said he would like to get a home game in Lake County so fans could see his Knights, but there have been no takers.

By day, the Gurnee resident is principal at Creiger High in Chicago. The school is a recipient of funds from an Oprah Winfrey movie which will go to underprivileged youth seeking a college education. They must maintain a B average.

"We have improved safety and curriculum," Clark said.

All told, some $500,000 could be contributed to the scholarship fund.

The Knights schedule: Aug. 27, 3 p.m., home at Hansen vs. South Side Hitmen; Sept. 11 visitors at Hansen vs. DuPage; Sept. 25: home at Hansen vs. Panthers, 1 p.m.; Oct. 2 visitors at Hansen vs. Chargers, 1 p.m.; Oct. 9, visitors at Luther South vs. South Side Hitmen; Oct. 16, home vs. Eagles at Northern Illinois University, 2 p.m.; Oct. 22, CFL playoffs at Hansen, 4 and 7:30 p.m. and Oct. 30, title game at Hansen, 1 p.m. The DuPage Eagles have won four of the last five league titles.

Vikings set for road contest

The Lake County Vikings semi-pro football team takes to the road Aug. 20 for a Midwest Football League game. The Vikings, 0-2 on the young season, battle the Indiana Renegades at Crown Point Ind. at 7:30 p.m.

The Vikings won their season opener, but dropped a 13-12 decision to the Palos Orland Park Force. Reggie Lawrence scored a 44-yard running touchdown and Frank Ruiz caught an 85-yard TD pass from Wes Quist.

Golf clinics offered

The College of Lake County will offer courses for beginning and intermediate golfers at the Sunset Valley Golf Course in Highland Park beginning Aug. 25 for five weeks.

Both "Beginning Golf" (GST 034) and "Intermediate Golf" (GST 033) will be taught on Thursdays beginning Aug. 25 or Saturdays beginning Aug. 27, with the beginners course from 10 to 10:50 a.m. and the intermediate course from 11 to 11:50 a.m. Students will receive individual and group instruction from a PGA golf professional. Golf clubs and balls will be provided.

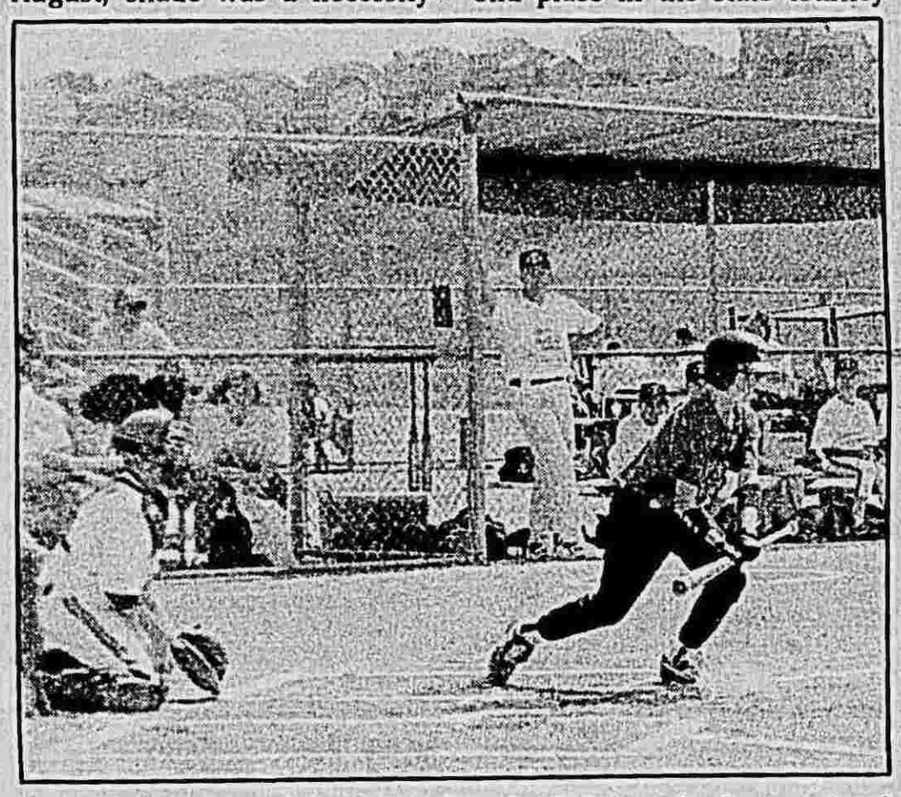

The cost is $65 per course. For information and registration, call CLC's Southlake Educational Center at 433-7884.

Baseball future is bright for Lake County Chiefs

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

After two days of rain and downright cold temperatures for August, shade was a necessity Thursday in Minnesota.

The Lake County Chiefs 12-and-under baseball team reflected on a 46-win season, second place in the state tourney and a respectable 4-2 showing at the national AAU tourney. This followed a 6-0 loss to powerful San Diego team which eliminated the Chiefs.

Mac Mansavage of the Lake County Chiefs puts down a bunt against Rhode Island. Rhode Island handed Lake County a 4-2 loss. Chiefs finished 4-2 in the Amateur Athletic Union tournament.

The Chiefs gave each team more than it bargained for in the six contests, and two Chiefs, Jamie Jankowski and Mike Bruszer, came home with trophies for individual contests - Jankowski for outfield accuracy and Bruszer for home runs.

The Chiefs had their chances even against the San Diego team.

Down 1-0, the Chiefs had a runner reach third base as Josh Boock walked and John Glatt reached on an error. But a forced out, a fielder's choice and a strikeout snuffed the Chiefs best scoring chance.

San Diego, which had shutout the other team to beat the Chiefs, Rhode Island by an 11-0 count earlier, had to earn its win. The telling blows were a first-inning home run which cleared the left-field fence by several feet and a 4-run fourth inning.

Mansavage believes the team learned much from a week playing against the nation's best.

"The guys have memories for the rest of their lives. They learned baseball is a attitude. You have to want it," Mansavage said.

Afterward, Manager Art Mansavage reflected on the trip to Burnsville, Minn. and told of plans for next year.

Mansavage's comments on key players:

On Mac Mansavage (Riverwoods): "As a lead-off man, your job is to get on base. Mac had extra pressure on him because he is my son. As a pitcher, he is not the fastest, but he knows how to mix them up."

On Steve Ruh (Northbrook): "He was under a lot of pressure because his Dad (Rick) is the assistant coach. He played for the Palatine Travellers and made great improvements. As a pitcher, he handles it well. He can play third or second base."

On Buszer (Deerfield): "He is a powerhouse guy. He is very strong with a smooth swing."

Nation's top horse riders compete at Temple Farms

The nation's top young riders are meeting head-to-head with international competitors to vie for individual and team gold, silver and bronze championship medals at the Pedigree® Brand North American Young Rider's Championships. The prestigious annual event, the pinnacle of the Pedigree® Brand Young Riders Program, is being hosted by Tempel Farms, in Wadsworth this week.

Over 100 riders between the ages of 16 and 21 from the United States, Canada, Bermuda and Mexico, who competing in the Olympic disciplines of dressage, show jumping and three-day eventing, will participate in this year's championship. The Pedigree® Brand Championships are a proving ground for America's young riders. Only candidates who have successfully completed the demanding regional selection trials in their respective disciplines are eligible to compete.

Previous U.S. winners at the 12-year-old championships include Molly Bliss, the youngest rider in three-day eventing at the 1990 World Equestrian Games, and Greg Best, a member of the 1988 Olympic Games team and an individual silver medalist in show jumping on "Gem Twist."

"It has been the Pedigree® Brand's long-standing goal to support young athletes in this country. Young riders are our future in maintaining the tradition of the equestrian sport," notes Alice Nathanson, External Relations Manager for Kal Kan Foods, Inc., makers of the Pedigree Food For Dogs. The brand's sponsorship of the Young Riders' program shows its continuing commitment to assisting young athletes in their pursuit of the Olympic dream, Pedigree® Brand was an Official Sponsor of the 1992 U.S. Olympic Team.

Speedsters give a wet, wild, wacky night at Wilmot

MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Correspondent

Larry Marshall of Kansasville, Wis., became the seventh different street stock feature win this season as Aug. 13 proved to be lucky at Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway.

Kenosha, Wis.'s Allen Winker scored the win in a hard fought 25-lap Spring Main which saw two red flags for flips.

Kenosha's Dennis Spitz scored his fifth modified feature win and second in a row as two red flags for slips also flew.

Larry Surleta of Round Lake won his third 20-lap sportsman main.

Marshall put his home-built D&L Chassis/A-1 Conveyor Camaro at the drop of the green and stayed their in a record breaking non-stop street stock main.

"The track was fast, the car was set upright after we changed everything and starter Chuck Olson did a good job of using the courtesy flag for the lapped traffic," said Marshall, whose first feature win in four years was in 5:11.74, taking eight seconds off the old mark.

The spring main got off to a rough start as the red flew when Joe Kristan got upside down in two just after the caution had come out for a front wing which broke off in turn four.

Kristan was not injured, and after quick repairs and a hammer job on his crumpled top wing, he came out for the restart.

Winker put his Long's Trucking/Quality Auto Restoration & Rebuilders/ Kenosha Tire Winker Edge Chassis in front until lap eight when Todd Daun took the lead as the two worked lapped traffic.

Tommy Sexton, who had flipped in the first heat and came back to make the main by finishing second in the "B" Main Last Chance Qualifier, flipped again. Sexton was not injured, but had enough and called it a night.

A persistent Kristan, who had pitted prior to the second red when his top wing collapsed, came back for the second restart, but finished back in the field with no wing panels.

Fred Zack paced the first half of the Modified Main which saw a red come out on lap four when Mike Dubs flipped in turn one. Dubs was checked out for a possible knee injury.

The second red came on lap 11 as two-time defending champion Lenny Ostrowski Jr., who was running third and using the high groove, went over hard in turn three. Ostrowski was conscious and transported to the hospital for further evaluation.

Two laps after the second red, Spitz worked his Carmin Construction/JB Race Engines/ NAPA Auto Parts mount into the lead as Zack bobbled just enough coming out of turn two.

"Fred's a tough guy to get around, but he got out of shape just enough for me to get underneath him and then gave me enough room to race," commented Spitz. "I thank Fred for that. It was a good, clean race."

Jim Bennett jumped into the sportsman feature lead, holding it until the halfway point when a caution flew just as Surleta was challenging in lapped traffic.

On the restart, Surleta put his Daimler Autohaus/Hurlburt Engines/Jade Construction Camaro inside Bennett down the backstretch. The pair ran side by side for two laps until Surleta took command of the point on lap 13.

Despite track crews being unable to get on the one-third mile oval until 3 p.m. due to all the rain, the track was fast. Frost won the five-lap Biene Excavating Dash in record time of 1:13.04, knocking one second off the old mark.

Despite the reds and delays, a total of 18 races with 70 cars in competition, the program was completed before at 10:45 p.m.

The Miller Genuine Draft Kenosha Fair Championships come to "Wisconsin's Clay Center of Speed" on Saturday, Aug. 20, with an open competition spring car program paying $2,000 to win the feature.

Mini-sprints are also on the program and both divisions time trialing. First race is at 7 p.m. with time trials at 6 p.m.

On Aug. 21, the always popular Demolition Derby comes to the front straightaway. Two sessions are planned with preliminary rounds starting at 2:30 p.m. and the finals at 6 p.m.

Grandstand admission to Wilmot Speedway on Aug. 20 and 21 is free, included in the fair admission.

Family support
Former Chicago Bears Coach and Hall of Fame member Mike Ditka visits with Joe Marconi, Sara Marconi and daughter, Katie, 2, at the Joe Marconi Memorial Pro-Am Bowling 'Strikes Against Leukemia' Tournament. Ditka was honorary chairman of the event which was named in honor of his former teammate Joe Marconi who was a leukemia victim.

Riders

Riders who qualify for the Pedigree® Brand Championships will be awarded a USET Young Rider Crest at the competition, recognizing them as representing the U.S. in international competition. Top U.S. finishers in each discipline will also be recognized as Pedigree® Brand USET Young Rider Champions.

The championships are held under the auspices of the International equestrian Federation (IEF), the American Horse Show Association (AHSA), and the national equestrian federation of the United states. This is the seventh year that Tempel Farms has been host to the championships.

The American Horse Shows Association is the regulatory body for Olympic equestrian sports and 20 other breeds and disciplines of equestrian competition. The AHSA has 55,000 members and recognizes 2,500 competitions each year. It governs all aspects of competition, educates and licenses all judges, stewards, and technical delegates, and works to promote equestrian sports in the United States.

The U.S. Equestrian Team (USET) is a non-profit organization that officially represents the United States in international equestrian competition. The USET is responsible for selecting, training, equipping and financing equestrian teams to compete in the Olympic Games, Pan American Games, World Championships and other international events.

For more information on the schedule of events and tickets, call 244-9207.

Chiefs

On Boock (Chicago): "He has improved 100 percent as a catcher. He came to us at our winter camp. He does whatever you ask, never complains."

On Glatt (Riverwoods): "John is a classic example of a guy who earned a spot on the roster. He improved tremendously. He is s switch-hitter."

On Jamie Jankowski (Lake Zurich) "He won the playoff game with Waukegan, or we would not have been here (at the AAU World Series)."

On Matt Bonuso (Arlington Heights): "What a workhorse. He is a quiet guy. He can run like a deer."

On Austin "Tex" Turner (Buffalo Grove): "He is a great infielder. He has a lot of ability. He knows how to mix up his pitches."

On Matt Rollins (Chicago): "He came to us at the winter camp and is a solid player. He has a nice swing but needs more experience."

On Jason Baker (Green Oaks): "He was our second catcher last year. He has a great deal of skills and is a great bunter.

On Dustin Dobslaf (Deerfield): "He is a good pitcher who always stays within the team concept."

On Mike Crane (Lake Zurich): "He deserved more playing time as a rookie, but in the tournament, you have to go with your experienced players."

On Dan Raneur (Libertyville): "He is a strong guy, good hitter."

On Chris Lucente (Northbrook): "He has come a long way. He could be a pitcher."

Also adding depth was J.J. Lubicky of Libertyville.

The baseball season is not totally put to rest, as the Chiefs wind up play in Wausau, Wis. this weekend.

Mansavage plans to offer a 13-year-old team next year and vows to have his team well prepared. After all, April is only a mere seven months away.

ELECTRONICS PROGRAM

"I chose CLC because I heard about the excellence of CLC's electronics program from my high school teachers. They told me about the college's good reputation with area industries. I was amazed at how in-depth CLC's program was and how knowledgeable the teachers were.

"CLC nurtured my interest and prepared me for a good life. If you're interested in a technical field, electonics is the way to go. That's where the future is."

"College of Lake County prepared me for a career I like in a field that has advancement opportunities."

I'LL BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW...

Brought To You By

MICHAEL FOHRMAN OF FOHRMAN DODGE

Can you imagine a big league baseball player leading the league in making the most errors; in being struckout the most times; and in hitting into the most double plays--and still being voted Most Valuable Player in his league for that year!... Did you know this once happened?... It was 1942... Joe Gordon did all those things, yet won the Most Valuable Player award that season in the American League... There's a lesson to be learned from this... It shows that even though you have faults, you can overcome them and be recognized for your good points.

How do you figure this one... Only about 10% of the U.S. population is left-handed, yet almost 30% of major league baseball players are left-handed!

Here's a golf question that may surprise you... Of all the pro golfers of all-time, which one won the most tournaments in the history of the U.S. men's pro tour?... It's not Jack Nicklaus as many would guess... Answer is Sam Snead.
